REDS WAVER, BUT LINE STILL HOLDS

Movie Star Day Bond Sale Totals $103,103

HIGH MARK SET AS NOTED TRIO VISITS MARION

Per Capita Tops Record of Many Larger Cities on Stars' Tour Route.

By HALLIE HOUCK

Marion saw stars last night—to the tune of $103,103 worth of war bonds.

Fred Astaire, Ilona Massey and Hugh Herbert, appearing at a dinner at Hotel Harding and a rally at the Harding stadium, boosted the community's participation in observing September's "Salute to Our Heroes" month.

Everyone concerned with Marion's party for the stars was pleased this morning with results which topped per capita buying in many larger cities the stars have visited in their "Stars Over America" tour.

Two hundred and forty men and women paid $75.50-a-plate to dine with the stars—$1.50 for dinner, an investment of $75 in a $100 war bond—and the audience at the stadium was estimated at around 3,000.

Auctions at the hotel and the stadium were highlights and at the stadium certificates and minute man flags awarded by the treasury department for participation of the payroll deduction plan of bond buying were presented by Miss Marilyn Meseke, Marion's "Miss America" of 1938.

Auction Helps

The auctions raised the day's bond sales total from $87,778 before the dinner started to $103,103 when the show was over at the stadium.

Spirited bidding on a dozen roses presented to Miss Massey at the dinner, for Astaire's carnation boutonniere and for an award won by Miss Massey ran the dinner party a little late in arriving at the stadium, but a state patrol escort, with sirens screaming, succeeded in getting the group through downtown Marion and out to the stadium at 8:35.

From 7:45 until the dinner party arrived, the Harding High school band and talent from Station WMRN, with Wilson B. Test, president of the Rotary club as master of ceremonies, entertained the stadium crowd.

A Strenuous Day

The stars, making their twelfth appearance of the day, were everything that the public could desire in three top-notch entertainers. Fatigued though they were after Akron and Mansfield appearances in the morning and afternoon, they played their roles like troupers. Astaire, at the stadium, drew laughs when he declared "I'm not a bit tired," and then feigned collapse.

At [illegible] the stars, in company with John Saltz of Cleveland, national publicity man for war bond [illegible] Fred Stanley, their [illegible] out of Hollywood, left the stadium with a party from Columbus headed by Pete Wood, secretary of the Independent Motion Picture Exhibitors [illegible].

Early Arrivals

By [illegible] yesterday a few persons were at the hotel for the dinner at [illegible]. They knew it was first-come-first-served and they wanted good places to see the stars. Serving started on time in the ballroom and at tables along the west and south sides of the main room.

The stars emerged shortly after 7 from their rooms where they had been resting after their strenuous day and took places at a long table on the dais in the ballroom.

M'NUTT SEES WORK CONTROL

Tells Committee Regulation of Nation's Manpower Is Essential.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, told the house migration committee today that "it is my considered judgment that some type" of legislation to attain full utilization of the nation's manpower was "inevitable."

He declared that a subcommittee of the commission was studying the problem, but no recommendation had been sent to President Roosevelt.

He told the committee there "is good reason to doubt" whether voluntary agreements between the government and labor and management "will long be adequate."

"We are moving rapidly into a situation where the government must intervene in the labor market," McNutt said, adding:

"It is unlikely that we shall be able to avoid the controls (over manpower) which our allies have found necessary."

McNutt's assertion that sweeping government control over manpower would become necessary came after he reported that "serious" labor shortages existed in 35 of the nation's production centers.

McNutt complained of a "needless" migration of labor, of "labor

NEW COUNTY CHURCH COUNCIL CONSIDERED

Proposal Placed Before Meeting Here Last Night.

Delegates from 22 churches of Marion and Marion county met at the Y. M. C. A. last night to discuss possibilities of forming a council of churches of the city and county. Rev. E. M. Hertzler of First Church of the Brethren, president of the Marion County Ministerial association sponsoring the proposed project, presided.

Ministers, prominent laymen, women and young persons of the churches received the proposal favorably and voted to carry on a campaign creating sentiment in their individual congregations for the establishment of the council. A meeting during the first part of October will be held and delegates will report action on the question taken by the congregation.

A committee was named to prepare mimeographed publicity which will be sent out to each church in the city and county. Those on the committee are Dr. S. M. Ingmire of Epworth Methodist church, Rev. [illegible] Marguerite Williamson of Epworth Methodist, president of the Marion Christian Youth [illegible] union, Mrs. [illegible] of Trinity Baptist church, [illegible]

OFFICER IN GUN BATTLE NEAR BUCYRUS

Deputy Sheriff's Arm Grazed in Exchange of Shots; Gunman Escapes.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 16—Crawford County Deputy Sheriff Ralph Schreck escaped with minor powder burns in an exchange of gunfire with an armed motorist shortly after 10 last night at the Point Place filling station on U. S. Route 30-N, two miles west of Bucyrus.

Shortly before 10 p. m. attendants at the Point Place filling station called the sheriff's office to report a motorist driving an auto bearing Illinois license plates was trying to sell an auto tire to another passing motorist.

Deputy Schreck left sheriff's quarters in Bucyrus at once to check the call, but when he arrived the second motorist already had gone, after purchasing the tire. The man who made the sale was still there. Deputy Schreck asked to see the man's auto registration papers.

Draws Gun

The man, seated in the front seat of his auto, turned as if to get the papers from a glove compartment. When he turned back he was holding a gun and ordered Deputy Schreck to put up his hands. Without saying anything else he fired his gun, a .38 calibre revolver. The bullet went through the deputy's coat and grazed the skin on his left arm.

Deputy Schreck ducked behind a parked truck and an exchange of at least 10 shots followed. One of Deputy's Schreck's shots crashed through the rear window of the gunman's car and struck the rear vision mirror. Apparently this scared the man and he fled from the auto, ducked around the corner of the filling station into a nearby corn field.

Calls to the Bucyrus city police and the Crawford county sheriff were placed by Schreck. When other authorities arrived, they along with Schreck began combing the corn field for traces of the gunman. After discovering a spot where he stopped to unload cartridges from his revolver, peace officers were unable to find any other trace of the man.

Marion Police Help

Joining in the search were three Marion city policemen, Galion police and Crawford and Wyandot county deputies. Marion policemen in the search were Capt. Ora DeWees and Patrolmen Clyde Hardin and Zenas McClenathan.

Attendants at the Point Place filling station told Crawford county authorities that the gunman came into the filling station sometime after 9:30 to trade an auto tire for gasoline. Believing that either the car or the tire was stolen, attendants refused to trade.

While talking with the station employes, the man said that he had been robbed in Pittsburgh and that he did not have money enough to buy gasoline to get back to his home in Illinois.

The auto he was driving has been identified as one stolen in Chicago about three weeks ago. In the back seat of the car were several suitcases containing a number of changes of clothing. An official in the Crawford county sheriff's office today said that among the clothing in the car was a policeman's soiled uniform and a .45 caliber rifle.

$25,000 Addition To Be Built at Marion Plant

A building permit for a $25,000 addition to the foundry of the Alloy Cast Steel Co. on Rose avenue was taken out yesterday at the office of the city clerk, Mrs. Mayme Gordon.

Company officials said the project includes a 60 by 98 foot addition to the cleaning and finishing department and a two-story 28 by 80 foot foundry office, inspection and locker building.

The work is scheduled for completion yet this year.

Loss of U. S. Carrier Yorktown at Midway Announced Today

Navy Reports Ship Sunk While Being Towed from Battle Scene; Casualties Were Small.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — The navy announced today that the United States aircraft carrier Yorktown had been sunk after the battle of Midway as a result of Japanese bombs and torpedo attacks.

Loss of the 19,900-ton carrier, with very few casualties, had been a well kept naval secret.

The department said that destruction of the ship apparently was not known to the enemy and that the knowledge was vitally linked to the operations which have been in progress in the South Pacific since early August.

The Yorktown first was successfully attacked by enemy aircraft with bombs and torpedoes on the afternoon of June 4, after the battle of Midway island—a great American victory — had reached its full fury.

The vessel, which had a normal complement of 85 planes and 2,072 men and was only five years old, was put out of action at that time.

Tugs and salvage vessels succeeded, however, in getting her under control and she was removed, slowly but surely, from the battle zone.

Ship Again Attacked

Presumably the withdrawal was eastward toward Pearl Harbor. The navy said in its communique reporting the loss today that by the morning of June 6 the prospects of saving the great ship "appeared brighter."

They had been slender at first for the vessel listed heavily, and, abandoned by her crew, was in imminent danger of capsizing.

But shortly after noon on June 6, an enemy submarine suddenly attacked the stricken carrier, scoring two torpedo hits amidship.

The sub put two more deadly torpedoes into the United States destroyer Hammann which was escorting the Yorktown.

The Hammann, loss of which had been reported by the navy department on June 14, sank shortly after being hit and the condition of the Yorktown "became critical," the navy said.

Early next morning, June 7, the communique continued, "the Yorktown capsized and sank as the result of the cumulative damage from aircraft bombs and torpedoes on the fourth, and submarine torpedoes on the sixth."

Submarine Attacked

Before the end came, however, the navy said the submarine which had delivered the fatal attack was hunted down by American destroyers in the Yorktown's escort and repeatedly attacked throughout the day.

The results of these depth charge assaults, the navy said, "indicated that the submarine was certainly damaged and possibly sunk."

As for casualties, the navy said, they were few and had been included in the total personnel losses previously announced for the battle of Midway as 92 officers and 215 enlisted men.

The Yorktown and the Hammann were the only United States ships lost at Midway while the Japanese had at least ten, including four aircraft carriers sunk and at least 13 others, including three battleships, damaged.

The Yorktown was the second aircraft carrier lost by the United States, the first being the Lexington which blew up and sank in the Coral sea after being attacked by Japanese dive bombers and torpedo planes in the great battle in these waters a month before the battle of Midway.

The destruction of the Yorktown and Lexington leaves the United States with five of the seven carriers with which it entered the war—the Enterprise, sister ship of the Yorktown, the Saratoga, sister ship of the Lexington, and the Wasp, Hornet, and Ranger.

While the Japanese began the war with a force of carriers believed to have been four or five more than America's seven, their losses have been heavier and presumably their main carrier strength now is numerically no greater than that of the United

Marion Seaman In Yorktown Escape

The story Jack Dunford of 804 East Center street couldn't tell when he was home on a leave from the United States navy was announced officially today by the navy department: The aircraft carrier Yorktown, on which he was a crewman, was sunk in the Battle of Midway.

Interviewed on July 31, the day he arrived home, Dunford's only statement about the fate of the Yorktown was that the carrier was "put out of action." Further than that he would make no statement as to what had happened to the carrier.

Dunford, who is 20, left here Aug. 14 for the west coast to return to duty. The last word received from him by his mother, Mrs. George Reilly, came from Los Angeles. Dunford is a ship's fitter.

New Drive on Siberia or India Hinted by Japanese

Jap General in China Quoted as Saying Invasion Near in Co-operation with European War.

By The Associated Press

Japan hinted boldly at a possible invasion of Russian Siberia or India today, while elsewhere in the Far Pacific and Indian ocean theaters of war the surrender of French Madagascar to the British appeared imminent and U. S. marines battled a major new Japanese attack in the Solomon islands.

A Tokyo broadcast, picked up by the BBC, quoted Gen. Shunroku Hata, Japan's commander in chief in China, as declaring that "the East Asia war is about to take an important step in co-operation with the European war."

High Chinese officials have declared repeatedly of late that Japan was preparing to attack Siberia—probably timed to coincide with a Nazi victory at Stalingrad.

[illegible] Japs in Manchukuo

[illegible]

With British troops rapidly over-running Madagascar, in the western Indian ocean, Japan might feel impelled to gamble on an invasion of India to protect the fringes of her "co-prosperity sphere in East Asia."

As the Far Pacific theater boiled with new activity, American marines were reported fighting successfully against a resurgence of Japanese striking power in the Solomon islands.

Reports received to date indicate that the marines are maintaining their positions," in the Solomons, the navy announced in Washington.

JAPS STEP UP FURY OF DRIVE IN SOLOMONS

Marines Reported Holding Positions; New Pacific Air Chief Named.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — Japan's expected grand-scale drive to recapture the Solomon islands and again point a dagger at the Australian lifeline appeared developing with a do-or-die fury today.

Battletired American forces were fighting back savagely and thus far successfully.

The navy reported last night that "heavy fighting" had been in progress by land, sea and air since Saturday night and that while details were lacking "reports received to date indicate that the marines are maintaining their positions."

Creation of a new air command for the United States Pacific fleet and a shift in command of the southwest Pacific allied air forces indicated a tightening of grand strategy for the developing battle, a battle into which the Japanese war lords undoubtedly would throw all their available striking power.

Despite counterattacks on Japanese bases to the north and northwest of the main American stronghold on Guadalcanal island, the navy reported the enemy was bringing pressure to bear with apparently increasing force, and had succeeded in landing small detachments of troops who tried vainly to recapture the Japanese-built airfield under cover of shelling by surface craft offshore.

While his bombers sought to distract possible supporting moves by attacking enemy shipping and supply bases over a wide area from New Britain to the Tanimbar islands, General Douglas MacArthur announced the appointment of Maj. Gen. George C. Kenney as commander of allied air forces in the area.

Kenney, 53, a hard-bitten veteran of combat flying who began as a private in the World war, during which he shot down two enemy planes in France, and who rose through the ranks to his two-star generalship, succeeds Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett. Brett is in the United States to undertake another assignment.

At the same time a change in fleet organization was announced in Washington, apparently designed to give air officers greater responsibility for actual battle operations. Secretary of the Navy Knox appointed Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of naval aeronautics, to the newly created air command for the Pacific fleet, with the rank of vice admiral.

Towers, who is 57 and who has been in naval aviation since 1910, will be principal air adviser to Admiral Nimitz.

In its report on the Solomons fighting, the navy listed the destruction of five enemy bombers, 13 fighters and three seaplanes since attacks on Guadalcanal were stepped up. Total Japanese plane losses since the Solomons campaign began with the marine invasion on Aug. 7 rose to 185.

In addition, an enemy warship was damaged when marine shore batteries replied to its shelling on the night of Sept. 12-13, making at least 20 Japanese ships sunk and damaged in the campaign to date.

No change was reported in the mountain fighting 40 miles north of Port Moresby, where the Japanese had been stopped in their push across New Guinea, although increasing patrol activity was noted.

WILLIAM M. JEFFERS

NELSON NAMES RAIL EXECUTIVE

W. M. Jeffers of Union Pacific Placed at Head of National Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—William M. "Bill" Jeffers, bald, stocky, office boy-to-president of the Union Pacific railroad, stepped in swinging today as the nation's new rubber czar.

"I am already at work," the 66-year-old railroader declared last night, as Production Chief Donald M. Nelson announced Jeffers had been picked for what Nelson called "one of the toughest" jobs in the war program.

Charged with reorganizing, consolidating and administering the government's efforts to alleviate the rubber shortage, Jeffers is expected to become, in effect, complete boss over the Rubber Reserve company and all other government agencies in matters affecting the rubber program.

Has Full Authority

"I am placing Mr. Jeffers in this post with the approval of the President," Nelson declared, "and I am delegating to him all my authority. From this point on, any problem connected with rubber is a matter for Mr. Jeffers' decision, and I know he will do this job."

Indicating he intended to use the authority given him, Jeffers declared he would do "whatever is necessary to carry out the assignment."

"We do not need talk—we need action," he said.

Blunt, outspoken and energetic, Jeffers was regarded here as a

FACE SMASHING ASSAULT BY LAND AND AIR

Heaviest Nazi Dive Bombing of War Hammers Russians at Stalingrad.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 16—The indomitable defenders of Stalingrad, under a grinding assault by land and air, wavered slightly but held their lines firm today, the 23rd since the German besiegers lunged at the Volga city with every weapon at their command.

The Soviet command acknowledged that heavy concentrations of Nazi tanks and infantry, preceded by large air forces, had inched ahead slightly in a narrow sector on the west of Stalingrad's defense wing.

Other advices said the gain probably was no more than a few hundred yards and that defiant Red army lines apparently were intact. It was the only change reported in 12 hours.

Dive Bombing Heavy

The Germans' dive-bombing was some of the heaviest of the war, and Red Star, attributing most of the enemy successes to its air might, conceded the gravity of Stalingrad's plight because of mass bombing raids.

But Russia definitely felt the first bite of winter. In Moscow, the inhabitants donned overcoats because of the coolest autumn day so far. Virtually the same weather prevailed at Stalingrad.

(The Germans, without specifying, reported gaining "considerable additional ground" at Stalingrad and acknowledged that the Red army was attacking in force at Voronezh and Rzhev, likely anchors of a Nazi winter line).

South of Voronezh, about midway between Stalingrad and Moscow, Red Star said Russian forces had recaptured three heights and had repulsed five enemy attacks in one sector, defeating two Hungarian regiments, two German battalions and wrecking 20 tanks.

A new Russian crossing of the Don in this region also was reported.

Red Sailors Turn Nazis Back

Red navy sailors athwart the axis path down the Black sea coast from Nazi-occupied Novorossisk were declared to have flung back an attack in one sector and wiped out enemy infantry forces elsewhere during a three-day fight.

The Germans lodged their new wedge in Stalingrad's western defenses only at heavy cost and artillery and anti-tank rifles alone accounted for half a dozen Nazi tanks, the communique said.

"Southwest of Stalingrad," it reported, "Red army men repulsing enemy attacks destroyed two tanks, and several guns and wiped out about a battalion of German infantry. In another sector the men of one unit wiped out 200 Hitlerites, destroyed five tanks, ten trucks and artillery battery."

Stalingrad mortar batteries destroyed 40 German tanks in holding a narrow sector against an attack by hundreds of tanks and several rifle regiments seeking to advance at all costs, the Moscow radio declared.

Armament plants were reported maintaining production and smoke from their chimneys blended with the fumes from bomb-blasted areas of the Volga river industrial city.

Soviet Gains Elsewhere

The midnight communique indicated that the fortunes of battle elsewhere rested with Soviet arms.

It declared:

German troops were thrown from two settlements in the Mozdok area of the central Caucasus; the invaders lost 1,000 men and [illegible] tanks in an attack upon [illegible] positions in the upper Don bend south of Voronezh; tank-borne Nazi infantrymen in Red army uniforms were detected and wiped out as they sought to move to the Red army rear and the central front Soviet patrols derailed three German railway trains.

How to drive as far on 3 or 4 gallons as you now drive on 5!

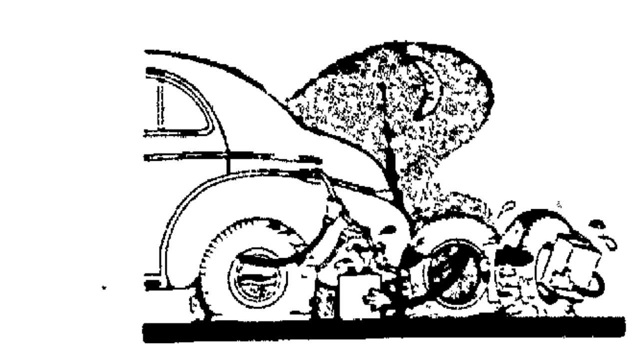

Three things make this big gas saving possible:

① THE "HEALTHIER" YOUR CAR THE LESS GAS IT USES . . .
Just as you need fresh air and exercise to keep "in the pink," your car needs periodic attention and simple adjustments or it will waste gas. Dirty, worn spark plugs alone can waste up to 1 gallon of every 10. But it's easy to keep your car "healthy" and get a lot more miles-per-gallon. Here's how:
—Keep carburetor and ignition system clean and properly adjusted.
—Have chassis lubricated and motor oil changed every 1,000 miles to reduce friction.
—Have air filter cleaned every 1,000 to 2,000 miles.
—Check wheel alignment and brake adjustment every 5,000 miles.

② HASTE MAKES WASTE..AND HOW!
Easing up on your speed will make a tremendous difference in the number of miles you get from every gallon of gas. At 60 miles an hour it takes almost 50% more gas to go a mile than it takes at 30. At 50 it takes almost 25% more! So try to hold it around that "30" mark and you'll find you can go as far on 3 or 4 gallons as you formerly went on five.

③ SOFT TIRES STEAL GASOLINE!
Soft tires have that "cold molasses" grip. It takes a lot of extra power to turn them. To get the most out of every gallon, be sure to check the air pressure in your tires once a week, without fail. For correct pressure come to SOHIO, where the free air towers are regularly tested and adjusted for accuracy.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY (OHIO)
An Ohio Company . . . Serving Ohio People

SOME ADDITIONAL GAS-SAVING TIPS:
- Keep cooling system clean, tight—radiator full.
- Use choke as sparingly as possible.
- Avoid quick starts and stops.
- Don't "pump" the accelerator—increase and decrease speed gradually.

P. S. While you're doing these things to save gasoline . . . you'll be saving rubber, too!

. . . GET ALL THE MILEAGE DUE YOU BY USING OHIO'S FAVORITE LONG-MILEAGE GASOLINE!

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

The Code

SANDY went off, then with only a last hurried glance at Tyra's hut to see how Helen was faring.

He saw the fear in Tyra's eyes when he told her what he intended to do.

"Sandy be—oh, be careful!"

He stepped over to where she sat on a crude little stool beside the bunk upon which Helen lay.

"Tyra, can you ever forgive me?"

She caught her breath. "I've never blamed you for not believing my story, this morning. It was weak. That's why I had to show you—I knew nothing less would ever convince you."

"That a miracle had taken place," he finished for her.

Her face, upturned to his, was a temptation too strong to resist. Quickly he bent and touched his lips to her forehead.

"That's just to hold you until I come back!"

She stared up at him, unblinking like a child. "Sandy . . ."

"Be seeing you soon!"

He ducked through the low door and strode out of the camp.

But, in spite of the exultation in his blood he proceeded cautiously, scanning each clump of brush as he approached it, keeping his hand upon his revolver.

With ears and eyes alert he began searching the brush around the old camp, commencing with the side nearest Helen's tent. He had been looking only a few minutes when his search was rewarded. For, in parting a clump of brambly brush he saw it—an ochre-brown jar a foot long—a wide-mouthed jar with a sealed stopper!

Sandy knelt to take the urn in his arms. Then he went taut as a brown form catapulted from the brush.

"Senor! Senor Morse! The Indios! Senor Morse sends me to tell you to come quickly!"

It was Erasto, who had been watching upon the plateau.

Sandy swooped the jar into his arm and went crashing back through the deserted camp upon Erasto's heels.

When he arrived, he found everything in a turmoil, Fleming shouting orders to his Yaquis, the brown men dragging down pup tents and stuffing supplies into knap-sacks.

"About seventy-five men are on the way!" Fleming shouted as soon as Sandy appeared. "Our only chance is to run!"

"But—Helen—we can't leave her . . ."

"We'll have to carry her on the stretcher. It's been done before. Means reducing our packs. I'm leaving all the sleeping bags except hers. Leaving some of the personal stuff too."

Flight

Gil came up just then. "You did find the codex, chief. I was afraid you wouldn't have time. I'm organizing the packs. Want me to take this precious burden?"

"Wrap it in one of the tents," he instructed Gil.

Sandy did not question Fleming's decision to flee before the Indians could reach their camp, for he knew that with Hunac-Ceel on the warpath there would no longer be any safety on the plateau, even should the white men beat back the Indians today. It would be awkward traveling with a stretcher, but when they had moved out of Hunac-Ceel's territory they could halt until Helen was able to walk.

Tyra appeared at the hut door and called to her father and Sandy that Helen was ready to move.

Fleming snapped: "I'll send two of my Yaquis ahead with the stretcher while we finish up."

Not until then did Sandy remember Fleming's mine. He asked quickly, "What about your gold? Are you putting it in the packs?"

"Gold," Fleming all but hooted. "It's buried down near the claim. Someday when I get old maybe I'll come back and dig it up."

"It seems a shame . . ." began Sandy, but Fleming cut him short.

"Tyra and I had our fun locating it. Come to think of it, I don't know what we'd do with the damn' stuff if we had it."

Sandy had no answer to that.

A moment later the stretcher, padded with Helen's sleeping bag, moved out of the camp toward the game trail. Shortly thereafter the others straggled out of the hastily abandoned camp, walking quickly to reach the cover of the bush before the Indians appeared. They were none too soon for Sandy, who had elected to guard the rear, was still in the open when he saw brown shadows moving silently out of the forest gloom. He could not be certain that they hadn't seen him although he was sure they would not give pursuit until they had surrounded the camp and satisfied themselves that it was empty.

He hurried to join the others and to report what was taking place. There was no need for comments. All knew that it was a life and death race.

Descent in Fear

At the rim of the plateau they found the Yaquis with Helen, and held a brief consultation upon the best method of taking the stretcher down the fault-line. Helen was conscious enough to know what was going on. She called out weakly not to bother about her comfort.

They were already roping her to the stretcher. "Bet you've never been a papoose before," Sandy said.

Her eyes widened a little. "Don't try to—carry me . . ."

"We're just going to ease you down the fault-line by the hand to hand method," Sandy told her. "Relax now. It may be a wild ride but you won't fall off. Ready?" he called to the Yaquis and Gil who had placed themselves opposite each other on the fault-line for the first lap of the stretcher's journey.

It was a wild ride, the stretcher passing from hand to hand, swinging with astonishing speed down the steep side of the plateau. The six men formed three pairs of "handlers" and worked like one unit. As soon as the stretcher had left two pairs of hands these men plunged past the others to take a place below, thus the chain formed and re-formed with only the character of the terrain to break the timing. Tyra went ahead to choose the best route.

They kept watching the rim of the plateau for a sight of the Indians, for should they be caught on the fault-line, they would be helpless under a rain of spears from above. No Indians appeared, but Sandy did not draw a free breath until they had reached the base of the plateau, far out of range of spears or blow-guns.

There they rested only a few minutes before starting on. When night overtook them the plateau lay two or three miles away. They camped without making a fire and posted a guard. There were no alarms but neither Fleming nor Sandy felt secure, so at dawn they pushed on across the man-killing country toward the high peak where Sandy had first looked upon the mystical plateau.

Several days later they reached the peak, and Sandy again stood with his binoculars and gazed off at the plateau floating like a dream-world upon the [illegible] Tyra came to his side.

Social Affairs

THE Tuesday Study club will continue its study of "The World Today" in the first meeting of the season to be held Oct. 13 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Bertha Moran of 266 Oak street.

Included in the plans for the season will be an art program Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. L. A. Axe of Mt. Vernon avenue and a Christmas party Dec. 15 at which husbands of the members will be guests. The annual guest party will be given April 26.

Mrs. Frank Scribner, Mrs. H. T. Emrick and Mrs. Nettie Hull were guests when Mrs. E. H. Cooper entertained the Colonial club yesterday afternoon at her home on Bellefontaine avenue. The hostess presented each guest with a gift. Throughout the rooms there were bouquets of fall flowers.

A contribution was made to the Union station canteen. Bunco was played, Mrs. Guy Rank winning high honors and Mrs. Hull the consolation prize. A pressing box was won by Mrs. Addie Jacobs.

Mrs. Cooper served a 6 o'clock dinner, assisted by Mrs. Fred Romine. Favors were miniature gold slippers and vases.

The women of St. Paul's Episcopal church and friends of the Red Cross held an all day sewing meeting yesterday at the parish house. It was reported that 875 buttonholes have been made on the garments by the new attachment for the sewing machine which the group recently purchased.

Mrs. C. H. Allen and Mrs. H. J. Cobbold were hostesses at the luncheon hour.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Betty M. Dial, daughter of Mrs. Emil Seifert of 188 Elm avenue, and John R. Bryant of Roscoe, O., took place at the Epworth Methodist parsonage Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The single ring ceremony was read by Dr. S. M. Ingmire. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Seifert.

The bride chose for her wedding a costume of navy blue with matching accessories. Her corsage was a single gardenia.

After the ceremony a wedding supper and reception were given at the home of the bride's mother. Guests included Mrs. Chris Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Briner, Miss Margaret Dial and Bert Dial.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant will make their home at Roscoe.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Priscilla Connell of 180 West Center street has returned from a three months' visit with friends and relatives in California and Arizona.

O'Neal Asks Parity-Plus Ceiling on Farm Prices

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told senators today that unless farm price ceilings were set at parity-plus, to allow for increased labor costs, food production would suffer from ma wartime labor shortage.

Testifying before the senate banking committee on anti-inflation legislation asked by President Roosevelt, O'Neal said:

"We believe that rising labor costs must be taken into consideration because if they are not considered it will be simply impossible for farmers to compete with other employers in the labor market for the help they must have to maintain production."

"Some farmers have this year allowed part of their crops to remain unharvested because they could not pay wages high enough to attract the necessary labor.

A Pennsylvanian has invented a pistol shaped device to test welded electric joints for leakage of current.

National Jewish Women's Officer on Program Here

A LUNCHEON and program meeting Friday at Hotel Harding will open the fall and winter season for the Marion Council of Jewish Women. The speaker for the afternoon will be Miss Gertrude D. Pinsky, field secretary of the National Council of Jewish Women. Miss Pinsky, who is associated with the national office in New York City, is a graduate of the college of law, University of Cincinnati, and received her master's degree from the New York School of Social Work at Columbia university. She is a member of the Ohio Bar association and the American Association of Social Workers.

Luncheon will be at 1 o'clock and following the program hour there will be a social session. Serving as hostesses will be the officers, Mrs. S. C. Rosenberg, president, Mrs. A. L. Loeb, first vice president, Mrs. Ben Lenauit second vice president, Miss Irene Hahn, treasurer, Mrs. A. Schoen, recording secretary and Mrs. M. M. Weinbaum, corresponding secretary.

NEW RATION BOOKS OUT BY CHRISTMAS

All Purpose Cards To Serve for Any Commodity.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The office of price administration announced today it probably would give the nation a Christmas present—the first of four "all-purpose" ration books which Americans will be using for the duration of the war.

Providing a quick method of rationing any article or commodity as shortages develop, "War Ration Book No. 2" can be used for coupon rationing, such as is now employed in distributing sugar, or for point-system rationing, such as that used in England. Each book is adequate for rationing at least two major groups of commodities for a minimum of six months.

A total of 150,000,000 copies of the book will be printed for distribution shortly before Christmas, OPA said.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16 — Gasoline rationing panels are being added to Ohio's 221 war price and rationing boards, the OPA said today. Each board will have a gasoline panel of three members.

While there has been no official decision as to gasoline rationing," OPA said, "we feel that it is good common sense to get the new panels selected and qualified, so that local boards, as now staffed, will not be swamped by overwork."

NEEDLEWORK PATTERN

Speakers of Note Booked in Club Women's Series

A PROGRAM which will prove to Marion speakers of outstanding prominence was announced for the 1942-43 season of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs at a meeting of the executive board of the federation yesterday in the recreational room of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, who will preside as head of the federation this year, presided for the meeting, which officially opened the club year. As in former years the first meeting of the federation will be the first Tuesday in October, which falls on Oct. 6. The speaker will be Lyle J. Alber, writer, world traveler and lecturer, who will speak on Winston Churchill. On Nov. 3 Gregor Ziemer, commentator and lecturer, will be the speaker, and the December meeting will be a choral program with the Marion Lecture-Recital club chorus. Harding High a cappella choir and Robert Campbell of Detroit, organist, a member of the Wayne university faculty, as guest performers.

Lecture at Theater

The lecture by Gregor Ziemer will be given at the Palace theater on Nov. 3. Plans for holding the remainder of the programs will be announced later by the program committee.

This year attendance at the various programs will be limited to members of the federation patrons and patronesses. Tickets for patron and patroness were received by club presidents and chairmen present at yesterday's meeting and others will be in the hands of patronesses attending before the opening program. Club members will be permitted to programs upon presentation of their club program, and patrons and patronesses by their tickets. Mrs. R. A. Gerwin is patroness chairman and persons not contacted by a club member may obtain a ticket by calling her.

Mr. Alber has known Winston Churchill for 20 years and has been with him for nearly four months. His lecture on England's "finest hour" is said to be not only timely but vivid, dramatic, informative, humorous and inspiring. He was a speaker this year at Chautauqua, N. Y., where he was heard by a number of Marion residents.

Favor Salvage Aid

The federation voted in favor of a movement to turn the cannon and other war relics in the city parks over to the scrap metal salvage committee to aid in the war work and the corresponding secretary was authorized to write a letter to Mayor Russell C. Snare advising him of the action.

Mrs. A. W. Bacon, who will be in charge of the federation's work for the blind of the state this year, asked for the 100 per cent cooperation of the club women, and Miss Fanny Rauhauser reported on a scholarship loan and also announced the annual Ohioana library meeting for Oct. 24. The library meeting will be open to patronesses from all parts of the state.

Talk on Food Topic

Mrs. Ethel Cochran of LaRue, field woman for the Marion county agriculture adjustment administration, talked on food supply and asked each club to appoint a farm reporter. She stated that information would be available from her office and also from the state AAA office regarding the part food will play in the present war. Mrs. Cochran announced that Mrs. Helen Burnaff, a state worker, would be available to clubs as a speaker during the coming year.

Mrs. Eugene H. Moore, director of the club chorus, announced the first meeting of the year for Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at her home on Bellefontaine avenue, and asked all club women wishing to take part in the chorus work to be present.

Mrs. Esther Guthery, radio chairman, announced a meeting of radio chairmen at her home Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock to arrange for weekly programs on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The programs will start Oct. 1. The resignation of Mrs. Mark Baker as a member of the board was accepted. Mrs. Baker has enrolled for college work this year.

LARRY ALLEN BELIEVED TO BE AXIS PRISONER

AP Correspondent Missing After Tobruk Raid.

CAIRO, Sept. 16 — Alone of three American correspondents who went with the British in the Tobruk raid on Tobruk, Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent and current Pulitzer prize winner for international reporting, has failed to return and it is now nearly certain today that he has become an axis prisoner.

Reliable information has reached Cairo that Allen was the newspaperman whose capture was announced by the Rome radio yesterday. The broadcast withheld his name.

Now the return of the fleet without him and another 24 hours of silence from the missing correspondent crushes the last hope that he might have evaded enemy capture.

It is probable that Allen either got ashore on enemy territory and was captured or that he was picked up from the sea.

PAY INCREASE GRANTED

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16— [illegible] than 8,000 production workers in the Westinghouse Air Brake and the Union Switch & Signal Co., at adjoining Wilmerding, Swissvale, were granted wage increases of five cents an hour under agreement signed today by company officials and [illegible] the CIO United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers of America. The increase brings the base rate to 72 cents an hour.

General Mobilization Ordered in Brazil

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 16— President Getulio Vargas ordered general mobilization today throughout Brazil.

Brazil declared war against Germany and Italy last Aug. 22 after incurring heavy losses from axis attacks on her merchant shipping.

Since then Brazilian sea and air forces have been helping the allies combat the enemy sea menace.

The general mobilization extends steps already taken by the Brazilian government which have put the nation on a military basis. Brazil could place 250,000 trained infantrymen in the field.

Three round trip services a week between Sofia and Bucharest have been begun by a Rumanian airplane company.

Autoists Ready to Accept Nationwide Gas Rationing

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

P[illegible]TON, N. J., Sept. 16—[illegible] gasoline rationing, [illegible] President has asked to [illegible] effect at the earlies[t] [illegible] likely meet [illegible] of grumbling [illegible] public.

[illegible] the Baruch committee's [illegible] rationing on a na[tionwide] [illegible] came at a time when [illegible] majority of American car-owners were ready to accept a drastic cut in their driving.

Only a few days before the Baruch report was made public, a nationwide survey by the field reporters who collect information for the Institute found that more than 8 out of every 10 car-owners were willing to accept rationing and reduced driving if the President felt that was necessary to save rubber.

Their attitude constitutes further evidence of the fact, so often shown in this war, that the public is ready to make far greater sacrifices than government officials have been asking, provided the necessity for such sacrifices is made plain.

The survey throughout the country was completed Sept. 4, six days before the Baruch committee report. It asked motorists whether they would be willing to accept gasoline rationing and reduced driving if the President asked the country to do so in order to conserve rubber.

The attitude of car-owners was as follows:

CAR-OWNERS
Yes	84%
No	13
Undecided	3

No important difference was found between the vote in areas where gasoline is rationed at present, and areas where it is not. In rationed areas the favorable vote was 83 per cent, in non-rationed areas, 85 per cent.

In line with the vote in non-rationed areas, the Institute found in a special survey only three weeks ago that a substantial majority of residents in the non-rationed East Central states were willing to have their automobile driving reduced in order to help relieve the oil shortage in New England.

Motorists throughout the country have likewise been ready for many months to accept a nationwide reduction of automobile speed limits — a program also advocated by the Baruch committee.

As long ago as last January—only six weeks after America entered the war—the Institute found 61 per cent of car-owners in favor of the 35-mile speed limit which the Baruch committee now recommends.

The actual vote was:

National 35 - Mile Speed Limit (Poll in January—six weeks after war)
Favor 35-Mile Speed Limit	61%
Opposed	36
Undecided	3

In May, an Institute survey on the tire situation reported that at least 12 million car-owning families would be forced to put their autos up within a year because of wornout tires unless driving was drastically curtailed.

The report concluded that "gasoline rationing will undoubtedly have to be resorted to in all sections of the United States immediately, if for no other reason than to conserve tires."

The same survey revealed that motorists were not overly optimistic about the ability of the synthetic rubber program to fill the gap in rubber supplies.

In a question designed to bring out their views on the future of this program, the Institute found that the largest number of car-owners believed it would be at least two to five years before civilians could buy tires again in the usual way.

TRAINING PROGRAM MAPPED IN OHIO

Draft and Employment Officials Prepare Plan.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 — Ohio draft and employment officials today mapped a program for training war plant workers to take over the jobs of men called to the armed services.

Selective service, U. S. employment service and war manpower commission representatives from Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky agreed in Cleveland yesterday to "co-ordinate inductions and replacements" in plants having a high percentage of draft eligibles.

They said, however, that an expansion of training facilities and a lowering of hiring specifications would be necessary and that industries would have to hire more women, older persons and the physically handicapped.

Although they will have the help of the employment service, the responsibility for recruiting and training new workers within a reasonable period rests with the employer, a war manpower commission announcement stated.

Draft boards were asked to work with the employment service on matters of labor supply and occupational deferments.

Two-Way Tax Stretch

DATE for the beginning of senate debate on the tax bill that is going to remove more money from taxpayers' pockets than ever was removed before is Sept. 28. Sometime thereafter the bill will be passed, sent to conference committee and, ultimately, put into effect.

It will be too little and too late, characteristics that cannot be blamed on the congressmen who did the job. They are tussling with a tremendous reality of the times, the reality of expenditures that has ceased to bear any fixed relation to income.

Bearing the greatest tax burden in history, Americans probably will pay a little less than one-fourth of their government's expenditures on war alone during the first year of the new tax bill's existence. Yet, tax experts already are concerned about the possibility of taxing too heavily. There are limits to the government's income, but there are no limits to its spending.

On one hand there is the taxpayer, big, medium and small, who is expected to pay to the utmost limit of his ability. On the other hand is the total of the bill to be paid, so enormous that if it were possible to confiscate every penny of income earned during the coming year, the sum would be about the same as that of money to be spent—$100,000,000,000.

Under the circumstances there is no possible way to keep tax legislation from being too little and too late. If the job could be done perfectly it still would fall far short of requirements—and it is useless to expect any job concerning taxation to be done perfectly.

Free Labor Must Win

ADDED meaning is given to American confidence in free labor by the latest development in German enslavement of French working people. Under a decree of the Petain-Laval-Hitler government, Frenchmen now may be drafted for whatever work their political bosses want them to do. Little imagination is required to anticipate that their bosses soon will be wanting them to produce more war material for Nazi conquest; their failure to come up to Hitler's expectations in this respect has been a sore point in Berlin.

In the United States there continues to be firm determination to keep labor free in actuality as well as in name. Occasionally there is talk in favor of conscription for civilian workers, but it always is accompanied by so many reservations that it carries its own rebuttal. This country has placed its faith in the superiority of free labor over slave labor. It is betting that its own free workers can out-produce any combination of forced labor that the Axis may be able to devise. Free labor can win. It must win. It is fighting for its survival.

Double Duty for Candidates

CANDIDATES awaiting election day are worrying about the difficulty of getting attention for their campaigns. Apparently the public is too busy to hang on office seekers' honeyed words and vitriolic attacks. But if the candidates' worry goes no further than that, they are still living in a fools' paradise.

They are doomed for double trouble. Not only are voters proving campaign-shy, but it's a good guess they'll be skittish on election day, too. They may be too preoccupied to listen to speeches, but they are by no means indifferent to the importance of the forthcoming election. It's simply a lack of time that creates an illusion of indifference.

In any situation where an officeholder or candidate of demonstrated incompetence is running against an opponent of apparently superior quality, it's a safe even money bet the incompetent will be licked. War is essentially a process of eliminating those who cannot survive its rigors, and politicians are not immune. In Washington, in the states and right on down to the smallest units of government there is an insistent demand for quality—for men who have some better reason for holding office than their decision to bid for the job. Campaign speeches may be ignored, but deeds are getting as close attention as they ever received before.

Just a Farm Girl

HOMESICK girls in the department of agriculture—and there are thousands of them in Washington—solved the vacation problem to their own satisfaction and the intense relief of New Jersey farmers.

They were pining for the sight of the land and the touch of the soil but the two weeks vacation did not give them time enough to go home. A small group of them, knowing of the shortage of help on Jersey farms, contacted some vegetable growers and offered to work for nothing during their vacation.

They were taken on trial. When the farmers discovered they really were farm-reared girls who knew their way around a barnyard and not rotagravure farmerettes they were delighted and offered them not only room and board but wages as well.

It's not much of a back-to-the-farm movement as far as the general picture is concerned but it gave some lonely girls an experience next best to a visit to the old home place.

News Behind the News

Yanks in Air, Aussies on Ground, Should Be Able To Rout Japs.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The Japs sneaked their tricky way through the Owen Stanley mountain pass and have hidden themselves in holes and trees almost on the rim of Port Moresby, but no one here is very much worried about them going much farther.

The hard air bombing blow, which General MacArthur threw at their air bases last Sunday and Monday, has confirmed our superiority in the air throughout that whole area. The Australian land force, defending our vital New Guinea base, should be strong enough to cope with anything the Japs can now start on the ground.

When and if they come out of their holes, they must also face heavy strafing and bombing from our free-flying air fleets.

The situation is tense, but perhaps not as dangerous as the maps suggest, or as the Australians fear.

Next

Astrakhan is likely to be the next Nazi objective in Russia, after Stalingrad.

The bulk of Hitler's great force, accumulated for the conquest of the key city of the Volga river, is apt to be split into two parts, one to defend dangerous northern flank, just above the city, and the other to sweep on down the Volga to Astrakhan, at the mouth.

The military situation seems to require such disposal. No lull in the fighting can therefore be anticipated.

Hitler's hold on Stalingrad will always have to be protected by a heavy defense line just north of the city, until he is able to push on eventually and free it from this natural pressure. And there is still sufficient time left, before winter in this region, for the Nazis to consummate their conquest of the Caucasus province, by pushing on down the west bank of the lower Volga, and cleaning out Russian resistance as far as the Caucasus mountains. Russian defense in that area cannot be formidable.

Maximum

There is little to add now to the general popular understanding of the reasons for the unsuccessful defense of the city, which bears Stalin's name. Hitler mustered every ounce of air strength, available everywhere within his reach, for this mighty blow.

He left the homeland in Germany practically without air defensive power. He even called on Rommel in Libya to an extent which allowed the marshal's latest drive on Cairo to fizzle out as soon as it got started.

The force which Hitler mustered before Stalingrad, therefore, represents the ultimate of waning German military strength, after three years of war. He has no more worth considering. If he had, you would have seen it in action either on the north Russian front or in Libya, while his drive for Stalingrad was on.

Mr. Henderson's OPA and Mr. Eastman's ODT, have been pulling under the table in a rather spirited inner contest for control of national gas rationing.

Controversy

It is not a personal matter, although personalities are intervening. Mr. Henderson, for instance, went on the air Sunday night with a speech in which he assumed without question he was to run the show his way.

Vital difference in method is the root of the conflict. Mr. Eastman wants to ration on a basis of the needs of each individual—proven needs. Unless a car owner could show some need, he would not get any gas. Un-needed cars would thus be laid up. But the motor needs of the nation would be satisfied.

OPA favors national rationing on the same basis it employs in the east—four gallons a week for everyone, regardless of need, and extra allowances doled out.

Apparently, OPA believes four gallons for everyone would be more popular, but certainly this does not meet the prescription Mr. Henderson offered for tires in his speech when he counseled against waste.

Planning Post-War World

McNutt: "Peacetime Jobs for War Working Millions."

This is the last of a series of four articles.

By PAUL V. McNUTT
Federal Security Administrator

PAUL V. McNUTT

THOUGHT is being given in many quarters to the design of the peace which we would like and the character of international organization necessary to maintain it. There will, however, be equally as pressing domestic problems. Some of the dilemmas of the depression will recur and new problems will appear.

First, the most pressing, will be the difficult decisions which must be made for the orderly demobilization of the vast pool of manpower which is being concentrated for war effort. If the war should fortunately end early in 1943, there would even then be some 22 million people occupied in the armed forces or war production. Readjustment on such a scale will tax our ingenuity and our resources.

Industry should be ready to reconvert to needed products, and many industries are now devoting research to the type of goods which they can best market. Men should be prepared to shift back from swords to plowshares, and this may well involve as much relocation and retraining as was involved in adjustment to war.

Our goal should be full employment, maintained as far as possible in private industry, but with a substantial number in public employment if opportunity is not otherwise available. The agencies of the federal government are now engaged in the study of the kind of public works and service program which can be put into action if necessary. Without full employment there will not be full purchasing power, and if industry has no confidence that purchasing power will be maintained, private capital will not flow freely enough into the production of peace-time products. The period of demobilization will offer a challenge to business and government to work together in an atmosphere of practical idealism.

It is too early to predict all of the devices which the nation will have to adopt to approximate full employment, but some needs are apparent.

We should be prepared to maintain the full scope of usefulness of the Employment Service. The replacement and guidance of men into peaceful occupations will require as accurate knowledge of the trends in the labor market as was required for placement in war industry.

Unemployment compensation as the first line of defense against loss of income should be kept 100 per cent liquid by preparation to buttress the state reserves against any great stresses.

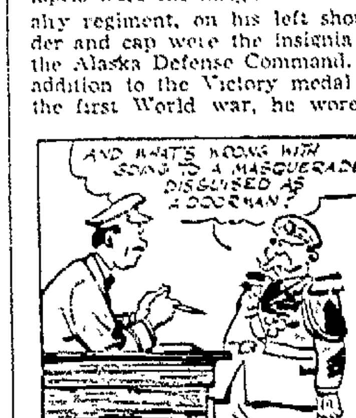

A broad rehabilitation program should be started now for repair of the war casualties.

Educational opportunity should be afforded to those men who interrupted their education to enter the war effort.

Plans for public employment should include the expansion of those services which contribute to a higher standard of living, particularly education, health, recreation, and nutrition.

SEATTLE—Police arrested a 52-year-old man for investigation. He was wearing an army uniform with technical sergeant's chevrons and nine hash marks. On his coat lapels were the insignia of a cavalry regiment, on his left shoulder and cap were the insignia of the Alaska Defense Command. In addition to the Victory medal of the first World war, he wore a British-American war relief emblem, Eagles' pin, service pin designating one son in the service, an enameled American flag set with bits of colored glass and a second-class Boy Scout badge pinned upside down. He carried a nickel-plated badge engraved with his name and the words: "Mineralogy, Geology, U. S. Army, National Defense." The national defense detail and military police joined the inquiry.

SOLD DOWN THE BIG RIVER

What The Associated Press Means To Us

An Editorial.

THE federal courts are about to hear a government suit against The Associated Press.

The testimony may be dull reading to some.

It should not be if the reader values his liberty under the Constitution.

It should not be if he fears and abhors dictatorship.

It should not be if he wants to keep the politicians in government from stifling his one open channel of protest and expression, his newspaper.

These are not the words of a newspaper concerned about its own future. The interests of the newspaper are vital only as the interests of the people are vital.

At a glance, it might seem to be stretching the imagination to say that the government's suit against The Associated Press is concerned with the freedom of the people.

Look closely. It could be so.

FUNDAMENTALLY, The Associated Press is nothing more or less than a grouping of newspapers pledged to trade the news of their respective localities so that the people of one city may know quickly what is happening in another city; pledged to employ and share the expense of maintaining reporters everywhere; pledged to share the expense of transmitting the news so gathered.

Its purpose is not commercial. It is not designed to make money. It is mutually operated without profits; a cooperative, a brotherhood of newsgatherers, 1,247 members pooling the expense entailed in bringing a harvest of comprehensive, accurate, important news into the family circle every day of the year.

The Associated Press, as a New York membership corporation had its small beginnings 42 years ago. Its founders sought to enlarge the scope of news coverage, staking their reputations that such news would be accurate, uncolored and unbiased. Since 1900 its success has been rooted firmly in one requirement: that each member must make available to all other members, exclusively through The Associated Press, the news gathered in his city of publication.

This provision does not exclude others from doing the same thing. It has created no monopoly on news for there can be none. News is open to the energy and the talent of anyone or any group of individuals, any newspaper or any group of newspapers, willing to gather it, write it, relate it, sell it, print it.

ALWAYS there has been keen competition for news. In its beginnings and now, The Associated Press has had the liveliest kind of competition. Many newspapers chose not to be members of The Associated Press in its early days. Many newspapers still choose not to be members.

United Press and International News Service, each energetic and privately owned, respectively, by Scripps-Howard and Hearst interests, have contracts with hundreds of newspapers, large and small. Their "coverage" circles the globe, as does that of The Associated Press. Many newspapers are well served and successful, depending upon United Press alone. Many are equally well served and successful depending upon International News Service alone. A few find it possible to have all three services, expensive though it is, so that their telegraph editors may have a wide range of selection in the matter of talented writers and speed of transmission.

In addition, leased wire special services are furnished by the New York Times, the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Tribune.

BECAUSE The Associated Press has grown, because it is so successful as a cooperative effort, because its "coverage" is complete, because the readers of newspapers respect it, Marshall Field, who started his Chicago Sun without it, now insists that he be made a member.

Blessed by all hands in Washington, Mr. Field undertook publication of his pro-New Deal paper to oppose Col. R. R. McCormick's slashingly anti-New Deal Chicago Tribune.

Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general of the United States has brought suit to have The Associated Press declared a monopoly. He wants it designated as a "common carrier." He wants to force the members of The Associated Press to accept into their vineyard Mr. Field and all others who may apply.

In effect, Mr. Arnold's suit says "Whether you like it or not, you must let Mr. Field come into your office in Portland, Maine, or Portland, Oregon, and take away the news which you have gathered, so that he may publish it in the Chicago Sun. The news service which he now has does not satisfy Mr. Field. He does not think it adequate for the success of this enterprise which he has started. He needs your news and you must let him have it. He needs the pictures which you furnish to The Associated Press and you must let him have them."

MEMBERS of The Associated Press in Chicago are the Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Tribune, the Chicago Herald-American and the Chicago Times. The news gathered by these four newspapers in the local area of Chicago is now available to The Associated Press. The field is "covered." The Sun might be able to make some further contribution of news to The Associated Press but the members, gathered from all points of the country last April, did not think so when they voted, by a considerable majority, against Mr. Field's application for membership.

As morning publications, the Sun and the Tribune are direct competitors. Membership in The Associated Press would give Mr. Field access to news gathered at great cost by the Tribune because of the Tribune's obligation to make its news available to The Associated Press. Mr. Field's Washington friends see nothing wrong in that.

ARE the gentlemen in Washington interested only in Mr. Field and his success?

Are they interested merely in making it possible for any applicant to become a member of The Associated Press?

There is evidence otherwise.

They want The Associated Press to be declared a monopoly and designated as a "common carrier."

What is the fate of a common carrier."

Government control, of course.

What will happen to the news gathered and distributed by a common carrier under control of a government agency? Will it be cut and shaped, colored or bleached, suppressed or pointed with propaganda, to suit the government in control?

If Mr. Arnold's suit succeeds, if the governmental politicians come into control of The Associated Press they will successively come into control of the other news services.

And the channels of protest and expression will most certainly suffer the possibility of being smothered here as they have been smothered elsewhere. No country can have freedom of the people without freedom of the press for both terms mean exactly the same thing in the final analysis.

An Old Resident Scotches Rumor That Soldiers Have Taken Charge for Tourist Life Goes On.

By DAMON RUNYON

I HAVE received letters from several of my neighbors on Miami Beach, down in Dade county, Florida, asking that I explain to readers that the community has not been entirely absorbed by the army, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, and I note that their testimony is now supported by an official statement from A. J. Cleary, mayor of the beach.

The impression seems to prevail all over the country that the soldiers are in possession of practically all the hotels and apartments on the beach and that a civilian going there seeking accommodations would be out of luck. Moreover, there has been gossip everywhere to the effect that army restrictions on civilian life are so drastic that a guy can scarcely get a haircut without asking some military mogul's permission.

Now if these things were true and they were in the interest of the national emergency, there could be no complaint. But since they are not true and since the spreading of these untruths are a disservice to my fellow citizens down in Dade county, Florida, I think it only fair to lend my efforts toward dispelling the ...

IT IS NO secret that us Dade county ... have long depended on winter visitors for the circulation of those coarse banknotes that make for rich red business corpuscles in the veins of a community. Some of our more ... bish citizens down there may occasionally try to give the impression that we disdain the ... of the itinerants, but I am speaking as a ... candid and public spirited gee and hold ... no visiting dollar should be permitted to es...

With another winter season coming on, ... recognize the peril to our Dade county trade of rumors that there is no place for a ... wayfarer to rest his weary noggin and while ... believe them to be the unholy machinations of envious rival communities, I take pleasure in aiding in scotching them. There will be plenty of space for the visitors to Dade county this winter at the usual rates.

It seems that the army has taken over less than half of the hundreds of hotels on Miami Beach and not a great many of the numerous apartments and that the story bruited about the land that the soldiers are in possession of all the bathing beaches to the exclusion of the civilians is a canard. It also seems that the military restrictions are reasonably flexible and do not disturb the civilian population to any great extent.

LIKEWISE, lurid tales that the soldiers ... the citizens around and are given ... excesses of authority are ridiculed by ... Dade county correspondents, who report ... officers and men extremely well-mannered and courteous. Personally, I never believed they could be otherwise. Our American soldiers are innately gentlemen.

Of course it will probably be a long time before Dade county again gets the young male tourists in their gay sports jackets who thronged the hotel lobbies and the beaches and the race tracks in other years. They have gone or are going to war.

But the older folks who have made it their winter headquarters for years will probably be there in their usual numbers, to sit out in the silver sunshine or stroll in the golden moonlight that is unchanging through all the changes of time and is a memory that lingers always with you when you have sand in your shoes.

BOMB FOUND HERE

This map shows where fragments of what appeared to have been a Japanese incendiary bomb were found northeast of Brookings, Ore., and also where Jap submarines shelled the Pacific coast last February and in June. A small fire was started near Mount Emily by the bomb. The Western Defense Command spokesman disclosed that a small seaplane was observed over the area Sept. 9 and a submarine was later sighted and bombed about 30 miles off the same shore by an Army patrol plane. The spokesman said "it is possible a plane of this type might have been carried on a submarine." Japs subs shelled Goleta, Calif., Feb. 23 and a beach near Seaside, Ore., June 22.

DENIES ANY PART IN MORROW CO. HOLDUP

Two Others Yet To Be Arraigned on Robbery Charges.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., Sept. 16—Sam Barnett, 20, of Marengo, one of three youths charged with armed robbery in connection with a holdup last Friday midnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Van Sickle of near Marengo, yesterday entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and is being held in the Morrow county jail pending payment of his bond, set at $500. He was arraigned before Justice James Bennett.

His brother, Earl, 16, and Delmar Courson, 16, of Mt. Vernon, the other youths involved, are being held in the jail pending their hearing before Judge Conard Clouse which has been postponed until Sept. 22. Because Mr. and Mrs. Van Sickle are not able to make the trip into Mt. Gilead, the hearing will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. in their home.

Deputy Sheriff W. R. Cunningham said Courson has signed a statement confessing his part in the robbery and implicating the two brothers.

Australians Seize Initiative from Japs

By The Associated Press

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Sept. 14—(Delayed)—Australian patrols in the towering Owen Stanley mountains appeared today to have wrested the initiative from the Japanese, but delayed reports showed that the enemy probably has concentrated considerable force for the push that carried him over the peaks toward Port Moresby.

Information available here suggested that the Japanese have several thousand troops engaged in the drive, with more than half of them between their base at Buna and Efolgi, only about 40 miles from the Port Moresby outpost.

Astaire and Wife Get Marion Ride in Jeep

When Fred Astaire and his attractive wife dashed out of the Orchard street door at Hotel Harding last night to get into a car to go to the stadium some boys from the 2nd Battalion, 333rd Engineers Regiment were on hand with the bid: "Want to ride in a jeep?"

Astaire fairly whooped his "Gosh, we'd love to" and the couple hopped into the army vehicle.

Fred Stanley the stars' tour manager out of Hollywood, was in the car following the jeep. Sadly he commented:

"To think, that for days I've been fighting to keep Astaire from having to take a jeep ride and how does it turn out! He loves it."

At the stadium Mrs. Astaire vowed she and Fred had had a wonderful ride in the jeep.

The boys who pulled a fast one on the tour manager and the Marion committee arranging the transportation are Lt. G. S. Lewis, Lt. R. W. Balam and Staff Sgt. J. F. Kessler.

The very attractive elderly woman who was with the stars at the dinner table and on the platform at the stadium is the Mrs. Mimi Murray, aunt of Miss Massey, who is traveling with her on the tour.

Fred Astaire, who is often on the "Ten Best Dressed Men" lists, last night wore a dark blue chalk-stripe suit, the trousers held up by a twisted red handkerchief belt, a light blue shirt with button-down collar tabs, a dark blue bow tie with white polka dots, soft blue hat and brown suede shoes.

His charming socialite wife, to whom he's been married nine years was in a beautifully cut simple black silk jersey dress set off by a beautiful sparkling clip, slim black patent pumps and a hat that was a mere band of bright red with a pompon topknot and a black veil.

The gorgeous Ilona Massey, whose press agents are right, wore a light lemon yellow gabardine suit, brown suede platform pumps, and a huge violet felt hat with under-chin veil, a perfect frame for her heavy, blond hair. At the end of the program she'd auctioned off the two purple orchids on her hat and the one purple orchid on her shoulder.

Hugh Herbert, who drew laughs simply by waving his hands in the twiddly manner familiar to his fans, wore a dark blue business suit, light shirt, dark tie and grey hat.

Take it from two men who know the three stars who came to Marion are tops as people to know.

The men who know are State Patrolman J. A. Wolfe of the Medina station and Patrolman M. G. Bashus of Lorain, who picked up the star tour at Cleveland and were going at least as far as Columbus.

"Why, you know, sometimes they don't have luncheon or dinner engagements and they pay for their own, right out of their own pocketbooks," one of them said. "They're paying all their own expenses and are they ever swell people to be around."

Here's the remainder of the star tour through Ohio: Wednesday, Newark and Zanesville, with Columbus as headquarters; Thursday, Columbus; Friday, Springfield and Dayton, with Dayton as headquarters; Saturday, Middletown and Hamilton, with Dayton as headquarters, Sunday, Lima; Monday, wind up of tour at Cincinnati, and leave for Hollywood.

In Cleveland Monday Astaire did his "firecracker" dance from "Holiday Inn" and then auctioned off his dancing shoes for $116,000 worth of bonds.

Also in Cleveland, Miss Massey attended a dinner given by the Hungarian section—Hungary is her native land—and sold $85,000 worth of bonds.

Hugh Herbert told a reporter at the stadium that he and the late Ed Sharpless of Marion, world famous ventriloquist of years ago, were the greatest of friends. "Wonderful ventriloquist, wonderful," he said.

Herbert recalled playing the old Grand theater here 25 years ago—"when any of us had Columbus play dates and there was a break in the schedule, we always came to Marion if Ed was here."

Asked if he thought the town had changed, he replied quickly: "Not at all, not at all. Not even the people. Still young, still look the same, nothing's changed."

While he was still on the platform he "twiddled a wave" to the Harding High school band boys and girls and literally threw them into convulsions—off the platform a little girl approached and asked if he'd sign her autograph book. "Sure, sure," he agreed, "but why don't you sign mine?"

Miss Massey nearly fainted yesterday in Mansfield. All the stars and the people accompanying them were worn to a frazzle with yesterday's heavy schedule of 12 appearances.

Miss Massey's exhausted condition explains why she didn't sing at either the dinner or the stadium program. There wasn't room in the Harding ballroom for a piano—all available space was filled with tables—and at the stadium the strain of singing in the night air was just a bit more than she could face.

When Marilyn Meseke, Marion's "Miss America of 1938" went to the main table at the dinner to claim a rose bought by Mrs. J. Malcolm Steele, Miss Massey exclaimed with real sincerity, "I think you are just beautiful."

Marilyn, by the way, was wearing a deep fawn wool dress with draped front and gold-edged buttons, a soft blue Dutch-cap style felt hat set far back on her blond hair, red shoes and a corsage of deep red roses and yellow pompons.

"I could've gone on telling stories all night. I know twenty-five hundred anyway, but we're here to sell bonds, so I quit with three," Herbert said when he left the platform.

• • •

Mrs. Astaire's corsage of two waxy gardenias dropped off in the jeep as she alighted. Probably there's one tent at the 333rd Engineers Regiment camp east of Marion that's specially decorated today. The soldiers in the jeep would like to get in touch with the photographer who took their picture with the stars. They want prints.

Most of Marion's amateur and professional photographers were out last night, at the dinner or rally or both. The ground in front of the stadium platform was littered with flash bulbs, and many a bulb flashed in the ballroom as the stars spoke and as Miss Massey sold her roses.

Fred Guthery, First World War Liberty Bond chairman for the county, who presided at the dinner, in the ride to the stadium talked of the great need of buying war bonds and the evils of inflation.

He spoke of having traveled in Miss Massey's native Hungary after the First World War and of meeting a highly educated young man who spoke beautiful English.

"I'm always interested in the families of the people I meet and I inquired about his parents," he explained. He was told that the father was dead and asked if the family had been provided for.

The young Hungarian said yes, that his father had left $3,500 in insurance.

"Then you received the insurance," the Marion lawyer asked.

"Yes," was the reply, "but you see with inflation, the $3,500 we got in our money was just enough to buy a loaf of bread and a ticket home."

"People don't understand inflation except by actual experience or knowing people who have lived in countries where it's come," he said.

Cutler McGrew, Chamber of Commerce president who made the trip to Mansfield yesterday to bring the stars here, had many kind words for the orderly crowd of about 100 gathered around the hotel door and across the street in front of the police station to watch the stars leave for the stadium. Police were on duty, but they had no trouble keeping order in the crowd.

Mr. McGrew, by the way, partially tore off the metal strip along the right running board of the car in getting it away from in front of the Mansfield stand hotel—scraped it against a high step at the curb.

"Wasn't that fun? I wouldn't have missed it for anything" was the happy expression of one of the young women of Marion as she left the dinner party.

"Nice party," was the pleased comment of another customer, completely satisfied with her $76.50-a-plate dinner.

The stars really got a kick out of the fast-talking auctioneer at the stadium, L. M. Wickersham. They leaned forward in their chairs, laughed delightedly and exchanged remarks as they listened to his triple-tongued auc-talk and watched his gestures as he talked up the bids.

Stars' Day Bond Sale $103,103

virtually "all over the place" as professional and amateur cameramen took pictures of the stars waving and smiling to the ballroom crowd as they took their seats at the table.

At Stars' Table

Seated with the stars and Mrs. Astaire and Miss Massey's aunt, Mrs. Mimi Murray, were Mrs. Wilson B. Tway, Mr. Stanley, George E. Planck, who was general chairman of arrangements, Miss Esther Guthery, Mrs. Fred E. Guthery, Mrs. George Planck, Mr. Saltz, Cutler McGrew, president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, and Fred E. Guthery, Marion attorney who served as master of ceremonies. Their table was centered with a low container of fall flowers and during dinner Miss Massey was presented a sheaf of roses which she laid in front of her place.

After the dinner tables were cleared from the ballroom and the people on the mezzanine crowded in for a brief program. From time to time flash bulbs lit up the room and guests went to the table for the stars' autographs.

In the crowd was Sgt. Dixon K. Saltsgaver of the 2nd Battalion, 333rd Engineers regiment, stationed east of Marion, who purchased four tickets for a total of $306. His guests were Capt. and Mrs. Albert R. Berry and Sgt. Lester T. Johnson of the battalion.

Cites Our Responsibility

Mr. Guthery, who headed the county's Liberty Loan drives in the first World War, struck the first serious note of the dinner party when he arose to open the program.

"One hundred and fifty years ago our Constitution's fathers gave to us our Bill of Rights which gave to us freedom of the speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of religion and freedom of the press. No one can take on privileges such as these without at the same time taking on responsibilities.... It is now up to us whether or not we propose to take upon ourselves the responsibility of keeping free speech, free assembly, freedom of religion and freedom of the press.

"The time has gone by for wishful thinking. It is not going to do any good to sit in an office or talk on the street about how we want this war to turn out. We'd better stay in the house and say nothing unless we propose to dedicate ourselves and our earnings and other property to bring about a fruition and a success of this war campaign....

"The war must be fought on to an unconditional surrender. Otherwise, as before, there will be another to fight in the next quarter of a century. The United States must be at the peace table and stay there until there is that peace that does not perish from the earth."

Astaire Introduced

Applause greeted Mr. Guthery's opening announcement that the day's bond sales prior to the dinner had totaled $87,778. Upon finishing his introductory talk he introduced Astaire.

"One of the pleasant things about this tour is that the applause comes before I even do anything," he said with a laugh. "Hoofers aren't used to it. They have to do twists and loops and land on a piano to get even a little applause and then the thing they'd better do is get out of the room.

"Bing Crosby with his pipe in his mouth croons a few golden tones and brings the house down—but bless him, there's no one like him.

"We're delighted at the amount of money you have raised and to think we are in part responsible for you being here.... You don't want to hear a [illegible] floor slapper give an oration on bonds. In the state of Ohio, in your defense factories, the spirit is terrific. So many have gone 100 per cent for 10 per cent payroll deduction that I feel right at home. Columbia and Paramount, where I made my last picture, are in that group. It keeps us reminded that we have to keep giving more and more all the time." Turning to Herbert he asked, "Am I doing all right? I'm not so sure." The crowd applauded.

"If we all give always and never enough and then give more, in the words of Brooklyn, 'We'll molder dem bums'."

Miss Massey Introduced

Astaire introduced Miss Massey who started her talk with "Fellow Americans, you don't know how proud I am to say these words to you."

Mrs. Massey, as "gorgeous" to look at as her press agents describe her, then told an appealing story of her own life in Hungary after World War I.

"There was snow on the ground, my hands and feet were frozen, I was a symbol of a defeated country. I made a promise to myself that if I ever found anything worth while I would protect it and fight for it.

"I did find it—the United States of America! We should all support our government.

"Last month I entertained soldiers in army camps, first the able bodied men and then men in the hospital. It is not an easy thing to sing for those boys because you know some will never walk or see again, some won't ever get well. I didn't feel like singing, I wanted to run off and cry, but I sang because they smiled with faith, hope and courage in their eyes. No one with a heart in the right place can let them down. I am sure we will show the world how strong we are."

Herbert Tells Stories

Herbert was introduced by Astaire with, "Now that you've heard Ilona I want you to meet the lovely and gorgeous Hugh Herbert."

"My jokes are so bad they'd better be loud," Hugh quipped as he stepped to the microphone. "That's better, no it isn't, it's lousy, it stinks, woo-woo."

"People always laugh at me, even when I try to be serious, so I think my best contribution is a joke because people do laugh."

He proceeded to literally "bring down the house" with three rousing stories.

Astaire took the floor again and said "I think the traveling troubadors have come to the end of their string. Thanks for the turnout, and I hope we've been all right." Loud applause assured him that they had.

Profitable Auction

Miss Massey handed her sheaf of 12 roses to Mr. Guthery, who conducted a lively auction that, including Miss Massey's orchid corsage, brought in $12,000 for the war bond drive. As each bidder approached the dais Miss Massey reached across the table and gave the buyer a firm, friendly handshake, a flashing and sincere smile and a few words, such as "Thank you very much," "you ar soo very kind." From time to time she enthusiastically [illegible] "Sold! Sold!" as a [illegible] high bid was made.

In the midst of the auction Herbert pointed to his white carnation boutonniere and [illegible] "I'll sell this for a quarter" [illegible] can't have such [illegible] that," Mr. Guthery [illegible] laugh. Mr. McGrew [illegible] Herbert's left, [illegible] gaped me out of three cents," the [illegible]

Corsage Brings $1,000

With the roses all sold, a new gesture came from the audience that Miss Massey auction off her orchid corsage. [illegible] Herbert assented [illegible] lovely blond who was acting delightedly and dripping the beautiful flower, which eventually went to Mrs. Edgar Barnhart on her bid of $1,000.

Dr. F. A. Stengel received Astaire's white carnation boutonniere on his bid of $500.

First successful bidder was James C. Woods who received a rose for $500. Other roses went on the following bids:

Mrs. J. Malcolm Steele, $1,500; $500, Carl LaMarche, $1,000; Mrs. Steele for Miss Meseke, $1,000; Sol Freed, $500; Mr. McGrew, $1,000; Mrs. Steele for Miss Meseke, $1,000; Mrs. Hoover Brown, $1,500; Mrs. James C. Woods, $500; Mrs. Fred E. Guthery, $500.

Stadium Program

At the stadium Mr. Tway introduced Mr. Astaire who, bowed by the [illegible] the crowd, "I can't see a thing from here but I know there's millions of you. I'm not a [illegible] tired" and then he pretended to collapse.

Astaire delighted the audience with a few snappy tap steps to show that Bing Crosby didn't double for me in that picture" and then presented Miss Massey.

Her "hello" to the boys and girls brought a splendid response from the young people in the stadium. She told of her army camp visit and urged 10 per cent payroll deduction. "The lovely and gorgeous Hugh Herbert" was presented by Astaire and the crowd began to laugh before the comedian had uttered a sound. His "Woo-woo" got a terrific response.

Herbert told three stories that brought the laughs and applause dear to a comedian's ears and sat down. A few minutes later he went off the platform to inquire whether the transportation needs to Columbus had arrived. He did not return to the stage.

$1,000 Bid on Orchids

Mr. Tway read the results of the bond sales for the day and then announced that Miss Massey had offered her orchid corsage for sale. "You're investing money in our government and getting two orchids," Miss Massey said insistingly.

A. C. Bachman got the orchids on his bid of $1,000 and when he approached the platform to receive them the lovely blond planted a kiss on his forehead. Next she offered her red purse, and on his bid of $200 it was bought by Dan LaMarche, who also was rewarded with a kiss.

At 9:10 the stars left the platform. The bidding went on to a total of $3,125 under the expert direction of L. M. Wickersham as auctioneer, with Miss Meseke presenting the merchandise to the successful bidders in the stadium. Two telephones brought in the bids of listeners to the program, which was carried by Station WMRN.

Bonds were purchased at the stadium as follows: $1,000 by J. J. Huebner for a pen and pencil set; 12 of $25 denomination by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Murphy, two $50, one each by H. A. Knightsum and Bruce C. Snider, and the following $25, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Collins, Mrs. Helen B. Huffman and Phyllis Elaine Huffman, Jeannette Stewart; David Walter and Kathryn L. Axthelm; Charles Edward and Kathryn L. Axthelm; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Jacoby; Mr. and Mrs. John Gillis, Harley F. Levis, Mrs. Ilse Schoen, Betty Lou Kimmel and Lester Smith.

Merchandise Auction

The bids on the merchandise, all of which was donated, were as follows:

Five pounds of sugar to J. C. Chaney for $200; football to Robert LaMarche for $450—his son Bobby went to the platform to receive it; bowling ball, S. J. Evans for $375; a gift certificate for a man's hat to Harry Benzler of near Prospect, on his bid of $300. The only sale of which there was no record this morning was that of two albums of phonograph records. Mr. Planck asked that the successful bidder notify him or Louis Michel, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

All of the merchandise was contributed by Marion merchants.

Misses Mary Alice Watt and Virginia Andrews took the telephoned bids and Misses Avalon Dye and Louise Hinaman typed out the bonds purchased at the stadium. They were assisted by Everett Coldwell. The bond sales at the stadium were in charge of Robert White.

Persons who made pledges for purchases of the merchandise, some of which bore the stars' autographs, bought their bonds today at one of the banks, federal loans or at the postoffice. They received their wares after making their purchases.

[illegible]

The program closed with presentation of the treasury department awards.

Many Marion concerns have received certificates of award and some have purchased their treasury department flags. [illegible] U. S. Rubber Co., was presented a minute man flag for his company.

Minute men flags with red and white "10 per cent" emblems signifying that 100 per cent of the employes are giving 10 per cent for war bonds, were presented to John Dowler, secretary of the Arro Expansion Bolt Co., for the company; to H. J. Smith, treasurer of the Defiance Pressed Steel Co., for the company, and to M. E. Stafford, an employe in the shop of the Fairfield Engineering Co., for his company.

Playing of the national anthem by the Harding band, closed the program at 9:40.

Men of Co. H, Ohio State Guard, city police and the Eagle patrol of Boy Scout Troop 7, were on duty at the stadium. Donald Coldwell of Boy Scout Troop 3 assisted the patrol.

The program of instrumental and vocal music and tap dancing at the stadium preceding the stars' arrival, was given by Dick Zahn and his orchestra, Jayne Malby, Virginia Grover, Charles Sweeney, the Radio Rangers, and Polly, Bernard Wiesbaker, Mary Lou Cornelius, "Frosty" Gustin, the Chuck Wagon Pals with Anna Mae Thomas, Mary Lou Harder and Jeanne Winters. Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh was accompanist for Mr. Sweeney.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The life of many an American sailor has been saved by the ingenious breeches buoy. Particularly in heavy seas where the buoy is used to transfer men from sinking ships. These life-saving devices are not expensive, they cost about $15, or the equivalent of one Series E War Bond at $18.75.

Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will help save the lives of many Naval officers and men by aiding in the purchase of these breeches buoys for use in the Navy and Coast Guard. You owe it to your country. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds and Stamps every payday. —U. S. Treasury Department

RUBBER

... recently dictated by Nelson's desire to have the rubber program directed by an executive with no interests in the rubber or petroleum industries.

If the recommendations of the President's rubber committee, headed by Bernard M. Baruch, are carried out in full, Jeffers would take over control of funds for the program thus far handled by the federal loan agency.

Problem of Production

Among other things, to carry out the Baruch committee proposals, Jeffers must work out a 100,000-ton increase in butadiene output, to come into production in six months, build facilities for production of 100,000,000 gallons of alcohol for use in the synthetic rubber program and boost synthetic production to the point where it will be possible to relax restrictions somewhat on civilian driving.

The Baruch report noted that there was "grave danger" that construction delays might hold up the present synthetic program as much as four months, leaving rubber supplies next year insufficient even for military needs.

"This means I have a tough job," Jeffers declared. "But it is also a job for all the people of the United States. The biggest stockpile of rubber we have is on the wheels of our automobiles. I ask every motorist, every truck-driver, everybody who runs a car, to remember that he is now the custodian of a material more precious than gold."

Hope Not Yet Given Up for Missing Reporter

By The Associated Press

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 16—A co-worker of Vern Haugland, 34 year-old Associated Press war correspondent who bailed out of a faltering U. S. bomber over south central New Guinea Aug. 7, said today organized searches had been abandoned but there was still some hope for the safety of both Haugland and the plane's missing navigator.

Edward Widdis, Associated Press photographer, said he accompanied one party which made a search by boat up a New Guinea river. He said the natives of the area were generally friendly and had rescued many white men lost for months in the mountain jungles.

Tobruk Raid Hints at British Drive To Blast Rommel

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

If one were inclined to bet on hunches it wouldn't be a bad idea to wager a few coins that the Anglo-American assault on Nazi Marshal Rommel's supply base at the Port of Tobruk was the forerunner of the anxiously awaited Allied offensive to liquidate the Axis threat against Egypt.

It suggests that Britain's new Middle East commander, General Alexander is maneuvering in preparation for a house-cleaning.

This destructive operation by sea, air and commando forces could mean the British eighth army which is drawn up opposite Rommel's forces between the Mediterranean and the great Qattara depression in the flaming desert, is ready to pass from the stage of back-to-the-wall defense to aggressive initiative.

Of course it doesn't necessarily follow that the British intend to launch a drive within the next twenty-four hours. It wouldn't be surprising to see it come before long, however. General H. S. Sewell, British military expert, remarks with customary reserve: "Morale is high and the soldiers of the desert army are thinking in terms of attack."

Soldiers don't think in terms of attack without good reason. The indications are that the British are either set for action or rapidly nearing preparedness. It's no secret that they have been receiving reinforcements and supplies.

With the fighting in the Caucasus in such a critical state, it's vital that the British break off the Libyan claw to the pincers which Hitler is trying to close about the whole Middle East. Egypt is the keystone of Britain's control of the eastern Mediterranean, and that loss of that country might spell allied disaster.

It's vastly encouraging to see the allies demonstrate the strength and assurance necessary for an attack against the strongly defended Port of Tobruk. Alexander wasn't compelled to carry out any such expedition. That is, it wasn't by any means an act of despair in which a commander takes terrific risks. Undoubtedly the British leader figured on carrying out further destruction in this badly-bombed stronghold, but it looks very much as though his main purpose was to conduct a big scale action of reconnaissance. And the idea of that likely would be to prepare for further major operations.

REPORT DESTROYER SUNK

By The Associated Press

(ROME (FROM ITALIAN BROADCASTS), Sept. 16 — The Rome radio said today that a British light cruiser, reported by the high command yesterday as damaged in the week-end British raid on Tobruk, is "now known to have sunk."

S. W. O. C. 1941 Upsets Coca-Cola, 7-6, in Little World Series Contest

Loss Snaps Commercial League Winners Victory String at 14 Games.

S. W. O. C. No. 1949 became the favorite to cop the 1942 city league softball championship by overpowering a stubborn Coca-Cola team, 7-6, in a first round Little World Series game at Lincoln park last night.

The two teams battled to a 1-1 tie last Thursday night. The game was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness.

The loss snapped Coca-Cola's long victory string at 14 games, all registered at the expense of Commercial league opposition.

The losers were handicapped by the loss of their ace pitcher, Coxie Weiss, in the fifth inning. Weiss suffered a sprained ankle in a close play at the plate in the first of the fifth. He was replaced in the last of the fifth by Lefty Gorenlo, who held S.W.O.C. to five hits and a 1-1 tie last week.

Second Game Thursday

S.W.O.C. will play Greenwood No. 1 in a second round Little World Series game Thursday at 6:30 at Lincoln park.

Coca-Cola, a heavy favorite to win the fall classic, opened the scoring on two singles, a walk and a double. First Baseman Bill Freshour led off with a single. Gorby singled after M. Braham fanned. Roseberry walked and Buckley grounded to Walters, forcing Freshour at home plate. Buckley was safe on a fielder's choice. With two out and two men on base, Capt. Don Cook rapped out a long double scoring both runners. Weber fanned to end the inning.

S. W. O. C. wasted no time in overcoming Coca-Cola's advantage. Frayer blasted out a mighty home run after Corrigan and Darnell were out. Fritz Walters followed with a single and John Edington was out on a pop fly to Braham at third base.

Coca-Cola was blanked in the second, third and fourth frames but put together three hits for one more run in the fifth inning. Merchant opened with a single and scored on Cocherl's double. Cocherl was inserted in the Coca-Cola line-up as a pinch hitter for Coxie Weiss.

Errors Costly

Three errors, a hit and two fielder's choices produced three S. W. O. C. scores in the second inning to hold a 4-3 lead.

A double by Buckley and singles by Cook and Weber netted Coca-Cola two runs and a 5-4 lead in the sixth inning.

S. W. O. C. scored two runs in the sixth inning on one hit, an error, an infield out and a walk.

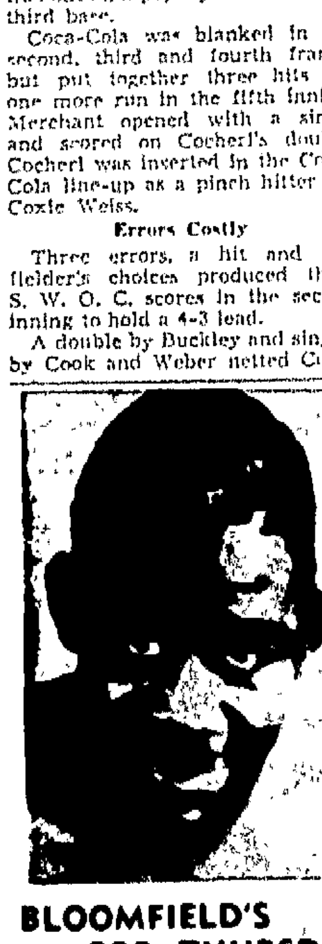

Trading by one run going into the final seventh inning, Coca-Cola tied the count at 6-6 on Freshour's single, an error and a fly ball.

Walter Corrigan opened S. W. O. C.'s rally in last of the seventh with a single after two were out. Lefty Gorenlo, who relieved Weiss, lost his control and issued walks to Darnell and Frayer. With the bases loaded and two out, Fritz Walters slapped out a clean single to end the game.

Summary:

Coca-Cola	200 012 1	6	11	1
S. W. O. C. 1949	130 002 1	7	8	0

Weiss, Gorenlo and Merchant, W. Walters and Darnell.

BLOOMFIELD'S FOE THURSDAY

Rufus Jones, the well known New York colored grappler will get his chance Thursday night at the Armory to try to break the winning streak of Jack Bloomfield. The colored boy has appeared many times in Marion and is one of the biggest drawing cards. Before coming west Jones was well known through the east and has wrestled several times at Madison Square Garden. This match may turn into a feud before it is over as both Rufus and Bloomfield are from New York and are out this way to make a name for themselves. This will be the two hour main event.

The one hour semi-final brings in the well known southern grappler, Buddy Knox, who has signed to meet Martino Angelo. The one fall opener is between Fred Carone of Boston and Lefty Pacer of Toledo. This is another all star attraction with advance ticket sale at Markert & Lewis. Prices (all taxes included): Gen. 50c, Ringside 75c, kids 25c.—Paid Adv.

COLUMBUS WINS, 4-1, OVER KANSAS CITY

Game Tonight Will Settle One of Finals Berth.

By The Associated Press

The American association is having as much difficulty determining its playoff winner as it did its league champion.

Columbus and Kansas City will settle one of the semi-final playoffs tonight, the Red Birds having forced the best of seven game series to the limit last night by winning, 4-1, and squaring the playoff at three victories apiece.

The Toledo-Milwaukee series also could end tonight, if Toledo won. Otherwise this engagement will go the limit, too.

The Mud Hens went ahead last night, three games to two, by defeating Milwaukee for the second straight time, 8 to 6.

WORLD SERIES WILL OPEN SEPT. 30TH IN NATIONAL LOOP PARK

Commissioner Landis, League Officials Set Dates, Prices and Eligibility List.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 — The World series will open Sept. 30 on National league ground, but just what team will be at home that day to the American league's New York Yankees is a matter that is up to the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Yankees won their way into another world series on Monday, the sixth time in seven years, and yesterday Commissioner K. M. Landis and officials of the two leagues decided dates and other details of the 1942 classic.

They include, in brief:

If the Cardinals win the National league pennant, the following dates will be in effect: Sept. 30, Oct. 1 at St. Louis; Oct. 2 open for traveling; Oct. 3, 4 and 5 at New York; Oct. 6 open for traveling, Oct. 7 at St. Louis, Oct. 8 open for ticket distribution for the final game; Oct. 9 at St. Louis.

If the Dodgers win, these dates will apply: Sept. 30, Oct. 1 at Brooklyn, Oct. 2, 3 and 4 at Yankee stadium; Oct. 5 at Brooklyn, Oct. 6 open for ticket distribution; Oct. 7 at Brooklyn.

U. S. O. To Benefit

Commissioner Landis said the Red Cross had rejected the proposal to share in the World's Series receipts, with the result that the United Service Organization would receive the entire amount to be donated by baseball.

Prices agreed upon for games at New York and Brooklyn were $6.60 for box seats, $5.50 for reserved grand stand seats, $3.30 for general admission and $1.10 for bleacher seats.

Prices for tickets at St. Louis will be fifteen per cent higher because of state and city taxes, with the result that box seats will cost $6.90, reserved grand stand $5.75, general admission $3.45 and bleachers $1.15.

Eligibility List

Players eligible to compete in the series were listed by Landis as:

St. Louis—John Beazley, James Brown, Morton Cooper, Walker Cooper, Frank Crespi, Murry Dickson, Harry Gumbert, John Hopp, Howard Krist, George Kurowski, Max Lanier, Martin Marion, Lloyd Moore, Terry Moore, Stanley Musial, Sam Narron, Kenneth O'Dea, Howard Pollet, Raymond Sanders, Enos Slaughter, Coaker Triplett, Harry Walker and Ernest White.

Brooklyn—John Allen, Stanley Bordagaray, Adolph Camilli, Hugh Casey, Curtis Davis, Larry French, August Galan, Edward Head, William Herman, Kirby Higbe, Newell Kimball, Max Macon, Joseph Medwick, L. N. Newsom, Arnold (Mickey) Owen, Harold Reese, Harold Reiser, Lewis Riggs, John Rizzo, William Sullivan, Floyd Vaughan, Fred Walker, Lester Webber and Whitlow Wyatt.

FRESHMAN ACE

Ohio Sports Chatter

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 — Gridiron guff!

Ohio Wesleyan university gridders are spending their pre-season training grind at a football camp in the wilds along the Olentangy river south of Delaware.

The boys took to the great outdoors in fine fashion, but some let their beards grow to such length that Coach George E. Gauthier, the "Mighty Mite" mentor of the Bishops, had to put in a hurry-up call for a barber so he could determine which candidates were making the practice session touchdowns.

At least, that's what George said!

Ohio Wesleyan, by the way, has one player who measures up to that "Battling Bishop" tag. He's Dick Drake, Worthington senior and outstanding tackle candidate, who has a pastorate and preaches every Sunday.

Muskingum offers something unusual in gridders in sophomore Ray Pierson, son of a Detroit, Mich., Methodist minister. Ray has the distinction of being named to all-city honorary high school teams in two different cities the same year.

During his senior year, Ray was a member of the Central High school team in Columbus. He played out half the schedule here, and then moved to Toledo, where he picked up the following Saturday as a regular on the Woodward High club. As the season closed he was awarded an all-city berth in each metropolis, although he had appeared only a half season in each.

* * *

Short Stuff: Baldwin Wallace college is in the market for a football game (two of 'em in fact) for the Nov. 14 and Nov. 21 week-ends, and will play you either on your own lot or at Berea ...Martins Ferry High school, which claimed the 1941 scholastic title after winning 10 in a row before playing a 14-14 deadlock with Toledo Libbey in a post-season tilt, has only three boys back from that powerhouse eleven (the other schools in the eastern sector appear happy about the whole thing)....Circleville High school's pigskin chasers should be in good shape for Friday's opener against Chillicothe Central Catholic, for the squad spent two days last week-end "pulling" corn for a farmer who needed help getting in his crop ....Jack Donovan of East Liverpool's squad was among the first casualties of the scholastic campaign, suffering a broken collar bone in scrimmage last week-end (he's a center)....Guess who is being counted on as the Navy's ace ball-toter at Annapolis this fall — none other than Hillis Hume, the former Alliance High school star who led the state in scoring a couple of years ago. Over east they say Hume has added wieght, speed and finesse since his scholastic days, and we can believe the "weight" part. But the kid had about all the speed and finesse one boy could have when he roamed the Buckeye grids.

TO PRACTICE TONIGHT

The Scioto Ordnance Plant football team will hold a practice tonight at 6:30 at Garfield park. Uniforms will be selected Monday night, a squad member reported today, and all players will be measured for uniforms then.

Traffic Problems On Galion Council Program

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 16—Recommendations were heard for the alleviation of traffic problems on the Galion square at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Galion city council. Plans were discussed and referred to the proper committees for the erection of signs or standards to be placed on the square during the busy hours of the day which would notify automobile drivers that no turns will be allowed. Because of the traffic light arrangement on the square it is felt that turns to the right or left tie up traffic during the heavy traffic hours.

An ordinance was also passed authorizing the transfer of general funds to specific funds to meet current expenses for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1942.

Eric Wins Right To Face Canton in Playoff Games

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Sept. 16—Canton and Erie clash here tonight in the opener of the four-out-of-seven finals of the Mid-Atlantic league's Shaughnessy playoffs.

Erie, which finished the regular season in fourth place, eliminated Dayton in the semi-finals last night, winning the last game of a three-out-of-five series 3 to 1. Dayton won second place in the season standings.

Canton, third place team, defeated Charleston, 1942 champions, three straight games to enter the finals.

The first two games of the finals will be played here, then the teams go to Erie for three contests. Site of any remaining games will be determined by the toss of a coin.

JIMMY BIVINS WINS OVER MAURIELLO IN CLEVELAND TUSSLE

First Loss in Eleven Starts for Scrappy Brooklyn Italian.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16 — Slugging Jimmy Bivins proved to 7,791 home-town customers last night that highly touted Tami Mauriello can be beaten, but he'll have to do it again soon in New York to convince everybody.

The 177¾-pound Cleveland Negro let fly a vicious left hook which parked Tami on the floor for a count of one early in the first round, but the 10-round scrap was close enough that Referee Joe Sedley even saw it Mauriello's way, although the two judges thought otherwise.

The Brooklyn Italian, in losing his first fight in 11 starts as a heavyweight, took practically everything Bivins had in the first round but rallied sharply. Tami reached such a peak in the tenth that Bivins buried his head in Mauriello's mid-section to guard against any chance of a knockout.

Seek Return Fight

Afterwards Mauriello, who at 180½ was a 2-3 betting underdog with few takers, said he thought he could beat Bivins in the Gotham return match decreed in the pre-fight agreement, while Bivins naurally disagreed. Tami might have won this time, but after piling up a clear edge in the fifth round, lost it for a low blow.

Sedley called the fight five to four for him with the other round even; one judge thought it was five to four in Bivins' favor, while the other said it was six to three for Bivins.

Even with the $12,000 guaranteed him it was a tough one for the hard-hitting New Yorker to drop. He had knocked out nine heavyweight foes, took the decision from Tony Musto and was given a draw with Bob Pastor after sending him to the canvas. Bivins likewise has floored bicycling Bob, but lost the decision. In his other starts this year, James handed the light heavy weight champ Gus Lesnevich a pasting in a non-title match, and defeated Billy Soose, Joey Maxim, and Joe Muscato.

Muscato Loses

Jimmy Reeves, 166-pound Negro, was too ring wise for Phil Muscato, 165, Buffalo, N. Y., and easily won an eight-round decision in their semi-final scrap.

Sonny Horne, 152, the Niles, O., boxer who has been doing his stuff in New York recently, won all eight rounds from Jimmy Mandell, 162, Buffalo, who substituted for Harvey Dubbs because the Canadian turned up with a bad eye. Johnny Baldesino, 148, Buffalo, failed to answer the bell for the third round of his scheduled eight-stanza mixup with Bobby Richardson, classy 147½-pound Cleveland Negro, and Buddy Smallwood, 123, Akron, captured a close decision from Jimmy Trusso, 125, Cleveland, in four rounds.

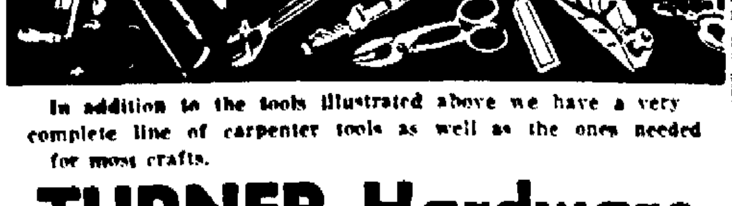

Grid Rules Interpretation Meeting Tonight

A football rules interpretation meeting of the North Central Officials and Coaches association will be held tonight at the home of F. W. B[illegible] at 136 Homer street. All rule changes and new interpretations for the 1942 football season will be discussed. Coaches, officials, players and fans interested in the changes are invited to attend the meeting.

Brooklyn Takes Up Chase Today Against Bucs After 2-Day Layoff.

By The Associated Press

The [illegible] in the National league [illegible] a [illegible] circus again today as the Brooklyn team [illegible] the chase of the St. Louis Cardinals after two days of idleness during which the Red Birds managed to entrench themselves in first place by two full games.

The [illegible] in the schedule handed the Dodgers at this critical stage provided at least a temporary [illegible] for the Cards because it gave them a working margin for their battle down the stretch. But there was a possibility that the open dates might favor Brooklyn in the long run.

Go 14 Innings

The fiercely fought series in Philadelphia took so much out of the Cardinals that they appeared groggy yesterday as they dragged down a 3-2 victory over the Phils in 14 innings with the veteran Si Johnson hurling all the way for the losers.

Morton Cooper, winner of [illegible] games, was on the mound for St. Louis but did not have his customary wares. His teammates gave him a two-run lead in the third inning. Ordinarily that would have been enough, but it wasn't yesterday. Cooper [illegible] behind almost every [illegible] allowed the Phils to take [illegible] their half of the third, to [illegible] score on Nick Etten's [illegible] the eighth, and finally [illegible] under fire with one [illegible] the ninth after he [illegible] up 10 hits.

Murry Dickson took charge and pitched six [illegible] innings. But the Red Birds [illegible] so feeble Dickson himself [illegible] set off the winning spark [illegible] ting a double after two [illegible] in the 14th.

The Red Birds obviously [illegible] in a hitting slump as they [illegible] into Boston to close their [illegible] campaign with two games [illegible] the Braves today and [illegible] They were outhit in their [illegible] four games at Philadelphia [illegible] were moving in low [illegible] before they reached Sh[illegible]

The Dodgers have [illegible] time to relax before taking [illegible] Pittsburgh Pirates today [illegible] morrow at Ebbets Field [illegible] are able to snap out of [illegible] game losing streak with [illegible] front against the Pirates [illegible] layoff will have proved [illegible] ficial.

In any case the National [illegible] is going to have another [illegible] representative to send [illegible] World Series, whether the pennant winner eventually [illegible] Louis or Brooklyn.

Besides the Cardinals [illegible] the only other major league [illegible] yesterday brought together Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox in the American league, but weather halted [illegible] in the fourth inning, forcing cancellation of the game. Chicago was leading 4-3 at the time.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 — Frank Frisch, whose Pirates may be the ones to knock Brooklyn clear out of the pennant race, figures the Dodgers still have a good chance if one hitter can get hot enough to bring the rest of the club to a boil.. But apparently the only place the Dodgers are hot is under Larry MacPhail's collar. Canada's green light (with reservations) for pro hockey gives you an idea what to expect in baseball next year. By the time players eligible for military service and those useful in the war effort have been eliminated, the teams likely will be made up of creaky-kneed old timers and very young, inexperienced kids .. But don't look for much minor league hockey—except that played by major league teams.

Working Overtime — When the baseball team of Local 592 Teamsters' union won a triple-header (yeah, that's right) from Highland Springs in the Virginia inter-city semi-pro league the other Saturday, Linwood (Pippy) Lacy pitched and won the first two games to give him a record of five victories in seven days.. He had won a double-header the previous Sunday and a single midweek game. Pippy wanted to go right back to the mound in the third game but Manager Oscar Fary argued: "No, save yourself for the playoff."

54 More Areas Put Under Rent Control

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 16 — Acting to curb what it called "inflated rents," the office of price administration today ordered 54 more defense - rental areas brought under federal rent control Oct. 1.

Rentals for living quarters were frozen at the levels of March 1, 1942.

Two registrations will be held —one for houses, apartments, tenements, and similar dwellings; the other for hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses, trailer camps, tourist homes and cabins, auto camps and similar quarters. Dates will be announced locally and a rent administrator named for each area.

Included was a new Ohio defense area, the Sandusky-Port Clinton district — Erie, Huron, Ottawa and Sandusky counties (rent office in Sandusky), with a 1940 population of 143,375

Program Presented at Class Meeting

A short business session was followed by a program at a meeting of the Rayl class of Trinity Baptist Sunday school, Tuesday night in the church parlors. Mrs Cora McKeever was in charge of the program hour, which included a group of solos by Miss Alice Malo, accompanied by Miss Wanda McMahan, and a playlet, "Starting to School Again," by Mrs. O. T. Swigart, Mr. and Mrs F. H. LeMasters, Mrs. Daisy Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Pontius and Mrs. Roy Reddick. Devotions were conducted by Rev. O. T. Swigart. Refreshments in charge of Mrs. McKeever and Mrs. F H LeMasters, followed the program.

BIBLE CLASSES MEET

The Senior Bible classes of Emanuel Lutheran church met at the church last night for a meeting and program. John Jenner had charge of devotions. Rev. Harry Eswine of St. John Lutheran church, Windfall, gave the lecture, "The Gospel of the Stars." Others on the program included musical numbers by Dianne and Marjorie Umbaugh, Virginia Wertz and a reading by Mrs. Tillie Laucher.

TELLS OF COURAGE AT PEARL HARBOR

Americans' Morale Praised by Wife of Maj. Lawson.

In the midst of all the death and devastation wrought by the Japs in their treacherous surprise attack on Pearl Harbor and the nearby area one indisputable fact was demonstrated—that Americans, even the children, still have what it takes.

This was the conviction expressed yesterday in a talk to the Marion Rotary club at Hotel Harding by a woman who with her husband, five-year-old daughter and mother, went through the hours of bombardment and hardships and were themselves participants in the exemplification of bravery and fortitude.

The speaker was Mrs. Richard H. Lawson, wife of a U. S. army major stationed at Scofield Barracks, target of some of the deadliest of the Jap attacks. Mrs. Lawson came to Marion several months ago to take up her residence after returning to this country with her mother and daughter. She is now living at 210 South Greenwood street.

Her praise for the high morale of both civilians and soldiers was spoken with utmost emphasis. She said it was her opinion and also the belief of many others that had it not been for the fighting spirit and ability displayed by the defending forces once they became organized after the surprise assault, the Japs might have landed troops.

The Lawson home was in the very center of the attack area, with the army hospital just across the street. From her home she saw the hospital strafed by fire from Jap planes, fire which also was directed against ambulances as they drove up with the wounded.

Mrs Lawson told a complete story of her experience, leading up to Christmas day, when she said goody-bye to her husband and left Honolulu in a ship convoy with other residents of the area who had been ordered evacuated. They set sail for an unannounced destination, which eventually proved to be San Francisco but which remained unidentified until their arrival.

"I hope to go back to Honolulu after victory is won, peace restored, and the city again measures up to its name, which, interpreted, means 'Fair Haven'."

In addition to the Rotarians who heard Mrs Lawson were these guests: Victor Dorris, Harding High school coach; Robert Owens, vice president and secretary of the Osgood Co., Earl C. Sleeth, former Marion county security administrator and Ralph Howard, Marion student at Ohio State university.

Accuses Administration of Delaying War Effort

WASHINGTON, Sept 16—Clarence Budington Kelland, executive director and publicity chief of the Republican national committee, declared in advance of a western speaking trip today that the administration appeared to be putting off a full war effort until after the elections lest the attendant sacrifices have adverse political consequences.

Kelland said he would stress this contention on a campaign trip through Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and probably the Dakotas. He starts tomorrow.

"There seems to be a disposition on the part of the powers that be," he said in an interview, "to postpone an all-out war effort, with the sacrifices it entails by the public, until after the elections. There seems to be apprehension lest the asking of necessary sacrifices now have a political effect and loss of votes."

Pupils Presented in Voice Recital

Mrs. B. L. Wallace of 146 Homer street presented a group of of her voice pupils in a recital last evening at the First United Brethren church. A large audience, made up of parents and friends of the performers and those interested in music, attended. Mrs. Fanny Benson was accompanist and Miss Grace Cooper announced the program. Taking part in the recital were Mrs. Henry Mickley, Miss Esther Guthery, Miss Margie Callahan, Miss Margaret Finley and Robert Barnhart.

Guest of Honor at Meeting of Eagles Tonight

JOHN A. ABEL.

A guest of honor and speaker for a meeting of Buckeye Aerie No 337, F O Eagles tonight will be John A. Abel, of Kansas City, Mo., grand secretary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and a past national president of the order. He is a past president of Buckeye Aerie and for a number of years served as secretary of the local group. Mr Abel is a former resident of Marion.

He became a member of Marion Aerie in 1907 only nine years after the order was founded. Since that time he has taken a very active part in the affairs of the fraternity. A short time after joining Buckeye aerie he became outside guard and four years later was serving as president. He was elected secretary in 1912, an office he held until 1939 when he was elevated to the office of grand worthy president.

After filling various positions in the Ohio State aerie he became state president in 1927. In that year the state made a net increase in membership of more than 8,000. He served as a grand trustee for a two-year period from 1930 to 1932 and was elected grand worthy vice president in 1938. In February 1941 Mr. Abel was appointed to fill the unexpired term of former Grand Secretary John S. Parry and in August of that year, at the national convention held in Milwaukee, he was unanimously elected grand secretary.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Sept. 17

A lively and possibly exciting day is forecast from the predominant planetary configurations, but with possibly various disruptive, confused and unsatisfactory denouements, and perhaps losses of financial nature as well as other mishaps or disappointments. The judgment may not be able to cope with annoying situations or to form profitable conclusions, neither may asistance be counted upon from elders, superiors or those in influential positions. Be wise as to speculation or litigation.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively year but one with reversals, annoyances and unsatisfactory experiences, this affecting the private as well as the business and financial life. It may be difficult to come to wise decisions because of an unsettled or chaotic state of mind and elders, superiors or those in influence may not be depended upon to give the needed advice or substantial cooperation. Shun speculation and legal entanglements.

A child born on this day should be versatile and clever, perhaps in an artistic or intellectual career, although its judgment may not be entirely clear or decisive. Neither may the wise counsel of friends be satisfactory.

SECOND WITNESS WILL TAKE STAND

First Tells Court of White Slave Activities.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16 — The government expected to call for testimony late today the second of six young women held as material witnesses in the trial of four men and a woman charged with operating a white slave ring.

The six young women, the prosecution claims, were transported by the ring to various cities in five states for immoral purposes.

Vivian Clark, 25-year-old blond prostitute called as the first material witness, testified in federal court yesterday that Carl T (Ted) Bruell, 38, of Canton, O., had threatened to kill her after she attended a movie with another man. Bruell and his brother Frank, 29, are among the five defendants.

Describing "a ride" with the brothers, Miss Clark related that Carl "said he was going to kill me and bury my body in lime" after cutting identification marks from her clothing. She was spared by telling the name of her movie companion, she added.

On another occasion, Miss Clark said, Carl threatened to carve his initials in her face if she ever tried to leave him. Another time, she continued, Carl made her "strip off all my clothes before a lot of people" in a Canton apartment and threatened to burn her with lighter fluid. The prostitute also told of attending a Cleveland party last New Year's eve at which the guests included a Canton public official and the brother of another.

Telling earlier of agreeing to go to "work" for the Bruell brothers, she declared all her brothel earnings were turned over to them. She said these amounted to $100 a day in Miami, Fla., $200 a week in Lorain and Sandusky and $100 to $135 a week in Canton.

MRS. THERESA MacDONALD HEADS LEGION AUXILIARY

Election Held Last Night; Installation Planned.

Mrs Theresa MacDonald was elected president of the auxiliary to the Bird-McGinnis Post 162, American Legion, at a meeting last night.

Meetings held formerly the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month will be replaced by one meeting on the third Tuesday of the month, it was announced. A report of the state convention held last month was given, and final plans were made for the Legion installation dinner which will be held Sept 22. Those in charge of the dinner will be Mrs. Florence Arndt, Mrs Geneva Dripps, Mrs. Vena Miller and Mrs Mary Orcutt. The auxiliary will assist with the canteen at the Legion Dugout also.

Other officers elected for the coming year are Mrs Marjorie Sherman, first vice president; Mrs Miller, second vice president; Mrs Orcutt, secretary; Mrs Agnes Ringert, treasurer, Mrs Erma Marks, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Inez Eikenbary, historian, Mrs. Bess Marks, chaplain, and Mrs. Margaret Foreman, Mrs Mary Laubner and Mrs. Anna Ralston, executive board members.

Installation of the new officers will be held Oct. 20 in charge of Mrs. Arndt, a past president of the auxiliary unit.

MOOSE WOMEN HEAR STAR STAFF MEMBER

Miss Edna Dutton Gives Talk at Chapter Meeting

Six candidates were initiated at a meeting of Women of the Moose, chapter No 448, Tuesday night when Mrs Lillian Snyder, publicity chairman, was in charge of the program. Fifty-one women were present including members, four guests from Bucyrus and 15 other visitors. Miss Edna Dutton, society editor of The Marion Star, spoke on the subject of publicity.

Candidates initiated included Miss Wanda Nye, Mrs. Gladys Nye, Mrs. Gelda Leffler, Mrs. Jean Jerew, Mrs Betty Cartwright and Mrs Mary Grace.

Included on the program was a song and dance number by Joyce Snyder and Virginia Stayner accompanied at the piano by Miss Jayne Melby. Plans were discussed for the forming of a new first aid class to be held at the club rooms, 118 South State street, on Thursday afternoons starting next week. The class will be under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Turner who has been teaching the class which meets on Thursday evenings at 7. Women of the Moose order or friends are invited to enroll.

Plans were made also for a bingo party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Leona Osborne on Chestnut street in honor of Mrs Chloe Applegett.

pirating" that has been "unchecked" and of discrimination in many areas against employment of women and minority groups, especially women.

He reported that between now and the end of 1942, the war effort would require the placing of 18,000,000 workers in new jobs and that 11,000,000 must be trained for semi-skilled work.

"The period of easy expansion of employment is about over," he said, adding that before the end of next year unemployment in this country would be reduced to about 1,000,000.

"Lost motion" in labor and seasonal unemployment must be eliminated, he asserted.

He predicted, too, that by the end of next year there would be an 18 per cent increase in the output of the individual worker over the figure for December, 1941, maintaining it would come through increased efficiency and lengthening of hours.

McNutt told the committee it was "not yet certain how soon the commission" will recommend national service legislation to the President, nor was it determined what form the legislation would take, but representatives of labor and management would be consulted before action was taken.

Test Mobilization To Be Held in City Tonight

A test mobilization in which all of the city's civilian defense units will participate will be staged tonight.

For the first time a blackout signal will be sounded in the city. The signal probably will be sounded about 30 minutes after the alert signal. The mobilization call will be by telephone to the heads of the various defense units. The all clear signal will be sounded by industrial plant whistles.

William B. Martin, civilian defense coordinator, emphasized today that the test was not a blackout.

HUMANE SOCIETY COMMISSION NAMED

Budget Group Appointed; Activities Reviewed.

C. J. Tachman, A. T. Allen and A. D. Boyd were appointed to the budget commission for 1943 at a bi-monthly meeting of the Marion County Humane society Monday night in the office of Ralph E. Cathart, attorney for the society. The appointments were made by A. H. Marks, president.

Mr Cathart reported that in July and August his office handled $5,117.40 for the society and there were 553 consultations and complaints and 487 interviews. Action taken during the two-month period included 13 cases of non support, eight of neglect of children, three of neglect of aged persons, one neglect of wife, four neglect of disabled persons, five separations, one household aide problem, five reports, 11 hearings and five cruelty to animal cases. The society sent out 181 letters and 31 cards and the attorney traveled a total of 72 miles on work for the society.

George N. Rule Named to Galion Position

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 16—Solving the vacancy created in the music department of Galion High school by the entrance of J. Wendell Byrnes, band director in the U. S. army signal corps, Superintendent M. A. Poromure has announced the appointment of George N. Rule of West Point, as director of instrumental music. The new director will begin his work Monday, Sept. 21.

RUSSIA

operate on a 24-hour basis even when bombing requires frequent halts, Red Star said.

Stalingrad has rail lines northward in the direction of Moscow, westward across the Don bend and southwestward through Kotelnikovski and a belt line connecting these three outside the city.

Reports said the Germans lost 3,000 men in a single sector where they attempted to capture a hospital building in an outlying section of Stalingrad.

The army newspaper said in several places west of Stalingrad fierce attacks gained the Germans some wedges in the Russian defenses, but in most of these salients Russian forces closed in again and forced the Nazis out.

FUEL OIL

fuel oils from the middle west necessitates rationing in that area."

Under a coupon system to be set up by the office of price administration rationing will vary in different regions. Details will not be announced until OPA has completed its plans.

During the period Sept. 16-30, fuel oil deliveries in the rationed area will be under control. Any fuel oil tank used for heating, cooling, or water heating equipment in a private dwelling (one designed for the occupancy of fewer than four families) may be filled to capacity, provided the tank does not exceed 275 gallons. In other than private dwellings, deliveries will be limited to 50 per cent of capacity.

Beginning Oct. 1, no deliveries may be made without the written guarantee of the person receiving the oil that he will surrender coupons when issued.

While declining an outright prediction, Nelson said rationing might reduce normal winter use "as much as 25 per cent," adding that a severe winter, transportation difficulties, or other unpredictable developments "might even increase that figure substantially."

The rationing system will make provision for supplementary allowances in emergencies and in cases of unusual hardship, but persons who were able to convert to the use of coal and omitted to do so will not be eligible for extra rations.

Writing paper will be manufactured in Brazil from 75 per cent pine and 25 per cent eucalyptus wood pulp.

STOCKS FAIRLY STEADY TODAY

General Tone Firm Although Some Issues Point Downward.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—A number of stock market leaders slanted a little lower today although the general price structure remained steady.

Bullish inspiration faded a bit because of failure of utility shares to resume their buoyant move of Tuesday. Indications that the job of completing the tax bill would have to overcome some wide differences in the ideas of the federal lawmakers accentuated speculative hesitancy.

Steels and motors held to a fairly even line, but moderate losses ruled near the fourth hour in rubbers and merchandising issues. Aircrafts were neglected. Rails were slightly uneven and a few specialties improved.

Eastman Kodak, J. C. Penney, and Owens-Illinois were among the better acting stocks. International Telephone again appeared on the tape in substantial blocks with the price holding around yesterday's final. American & Foreign Power preferreds each moved up about 2 points to 1942 tops. Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Woolworth were rather soft at times.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE SLIGHTLY LOWER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 — After fluctuating nervously over a range of about a cent a bushel, wheat prices today closed fractionally lower as a result of profit taking and hedging sales.

Corn sagged about a cent a bushel and rye as much as two cents.

Continued heavy receipts of spring wheat at Minneapolis were accompanied by some hedging in the futures pit but profit taking also was in evidence, particularly in the rye trade. Reports that recent weather had accelerated corn maturity weakened that market since one of the largest crops on record is in the making. Most traders were confused by price control developments in Washington.

YORKTOWN

States navy and qualitatively inferior.

The navy showed in a summary of its reports of Japanese losses due to naval action that six aircraft carriers had been sunk, one probably sunk and four damaged. In all, the navy reported that 134 Japanese combatant ships and 124 non-combatant ships a grand total of 258—have been sunk, probably sunk or damaged.

American naval losses due to enemy action in the Pacific, were summarized at 32 ships lost by enemy action, nine destroyed to prevent their capture, and 12 damaged—a total of 53 vessels.

The American losses included one battleship sunk and one damaged, two aircraft carriers sunk, one heavy cruiser sunk, two light cruisers damaged, ten destroyers sunk, one demolished and six damaged, two submarines sunk, and one demolished, two motor torpedo boats sunk and one demolished and a variety of small boats and auxiliaries, including nine vessels, patrol ships, and tugs, tankers and tenders of various kinds.

The navy said that at the time of its sinking the Yorktown was commanded by Captain Elliott Buckmaster, 52, of Columbus, O.

After his duty as commanding officer of the carrier had ceased he was assigned to command of the naval air station at Norfolk.

The Hamman was commanded by Commander Arnold Ellsworth True, 41, of Corinth, Ky., who now has a command at sea.

The Japanese twice claimed the Yorktown was hit or sunk in engagements preceding Midway.

On February 26 a Tokyo broadcast said "an enemy aircraft carrier" was severely damaged when Japanese naval planes plunged into her. Japanese military experts were quoted by German broadcasts as identifying the vessel as the Yorktown.

Again on May 8, the Japanese claimed it was sunk in the Coral Sea battle.

INVASION

a general offensive against the west coast of Madagascar last Thursday at dawn.

In the Solomons, the navy reported "heavy fighting" had been in progress by land, sea and air since Saturday night when the Japanese apparently began an attempt to regain the islands.

Latest dispatches said the enemy had succeeded in landing small detachments of troops at night. Hard-hitting American marines, however, were reported to have beaten off Japanese attempts to recapture the Guadalcanal airfield under cover of night shelling by Japanese warships off shore.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia reported no change in the mountain fighting in New Guinea, where the Japanese have been stalled for six days within 40 miles of the important United Nations outpost at Port Moresby.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Eyes Must Have Care

"WHEN shall I take my child for his first visit to the oculist?"

Answering this question in his presidential address on "Lifelong Care of the Eyes" before the Section on Eye Diseases at the American Medical association, Dr. Lawrence T. Post of St. Louis, advises that it is well to test the vision between the third and fourth years and to make a superficial examination for external disease at that time, but that the first thorough examination should be made at the start of the second grade in school, because it is then that the child really begins to use his eyes for prolonged close work and a complete checkup of the external muscles of the eye and of the refraction is indicated at this time.

Naturally if there are indications of poor vision, near sightedness or cross eyes before then an examination is indicated, but Dr. Post is referring above to the child who appears to be normal, who does not complain of headache or blurred vision, etc.

This idea of the child going to the oculist regularly as he goes to the dentist is somewhat of a new one, but is quite in line with the great modern movement of child hygiene. That it is based on the old saw that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure goes without saying, but there is also the knowledge we now have, that not only child hygiene is at stake, but also adult hygiene.

Many an adult has a permanently crippled dental arch because no one paid attention to the decay in his sixth year tooth, thinking it was only "another baby tooth," and many a man or woman has gone through life with half the vision they should have because eyes were not carefully tested in the early school years.

After the first examination, the school physician should make a yearly check and the child questioned about the symptoms of eye strain, and the oculist should make an examination every two years.

For the period of childhood it should be remembered also that one of the frequent dangers is injury to the eyes. Most of these are due to dangerous toys, especially air rifles. Within four months, Dr. Post relates, in his own practice he has seen four eyes destroyed by air rifles, there were five others in his University clinic, and two on the records of another doctor in the clinic. "I have yet to see useful vision retained in an eye that has been penetrated by a missile fired from these deadly toys."

Air rifles are entirely too dangerous to be placed in the hands of youngsters. Especially in these days when their elders are not setting them a very good example, and the imitative youngster levels his gun at a playmate and pretends he is a Jap.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. S.: Is there any possible way at all to cure a bad ingrown toenail?

Answer: Yes, certainly. There is no reason anyone should suffer with ingrown toenail for any length of time. Consult a chiropodist immediately.

S. C.: I have started drinking buttermilk and have been told by some friends that it is bad for the kidneys. Is that true?

Answer: Quite the contrary, buttermilk is one of the healthiest drinks for adults there is.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I CLOSED the door of Miss Whitlock's room behind me before I spoke. She now rose and came toward me.

"Shall I dress?" she whispered, reaching for her uniform.

I started to say no, but under the sway of the intuition which still held me, I changed it to an affirmative.

"If you would," I said, "although I'm probably out of my mind to think you may need it."

She shot a keen, appraising glance at me as she hurried into her uniform.

"I'll back your hunches any day," she said. "What particularly is on your mind?"

"Lillian and Carol," I said.

"They're both asleep—or were, when I went in shortly after midnight. They ought to be," she went on, "for I gave each of them a fairly stiff sleeping draught. Carolyn had staged so convincing a bout of sobbing that I'm still wondering if it may not have been sincere. Both of them were pretty well upset nervously, and I think they were both glad of the sedative."

Didn't See Them Take It

My intuition was even stronger now, for Lillian is never docile about taking anything that will put her to sleep.

"Please don't be offended," I said, "but did you see them take the sedative?"

She stood motionless for an instant, then swiftly began getting into her uniform, while she answered me.

"Before your question I was sure that I did. But now I remember that their backs were toward me when they drank the mixture. I didn't give the doses to them at the same time, you understand, else their position would have struck me, and each gave a plausible excuse for turning away from me. Why? What's on your mind?"

"Miss Underwood knows all the answers at her finger tips," I said. "A folded napkin or handkerchief, or a pad in the top of her dress, would have taken care of the liquid. I'll warrant each asked for a very little water."

"Yes, they did," she returned, staring at me, horrified. "And—yes, before that each offered to prepare the sedative herself. You think then—?"

Ronald Summoned

She was moving toward the door as she spoke, and I turned the knob.

"I haven't time to think," I said. "First, while I speak to my husband and Mr. Underwood, will you please knock upon Ronald's door? Tell him to throw on a bathrobe and come here at once."

She turned and sped along the hall, while I faced Harry and Dicky, who were waiting at the top of the stairs.

"He's told me," Harry said tensely, with a gesture toward Dicky. "But aren't you going to go in and see—"

"In a minute," I told him. "But before Miss Whitlock and I open that door and alarm them, I want you two and Ronald and the guard to be at the entrances, so you can keep them from going out into the street—by force, if necessary.

I took a long breath, for my next sentence was not going to be pleasant for me to utter, or for Lillian's husband to hear. But finally I phrased it.

Entrances Guarded

"First, I wish you'd third degree that guard, and find out whether Lillian has asked him to do anything for her, about which he's a bit uneasy."

"What!" Harry Underwood whispered with the effect of a shout. Then he turned and bolted down the stairway, just as Ronald came from his room.

"Is something—" Ronald began, then his secret uneasiness burst forth in the query, "Carolyn?"

"We don't know, Ronald," I said. "We're going to find out now whether she and Aunt Lillian are in this room, where we left them. But you must go with Uncle Dicky to help take care of the entrances. Carolyn must not leave the house, even if you have to use force, or even if Aunt Lillian demands that you let her go, and says that she is going with her."

Ronald's face whitened, but he faced me with steady eyes.

"She won't leave this house by any door I am guarding," he said.

Grand Prairie Cemetery Group Elects Officers

Special to The Star

MORRAL, Sept. 16 — The Grand Prairie Cemetery association met Monday afternoon at the cemetery office. Officers were elected as follows: Emry Bunnell, president; J. W. Campbell, vice president; Dwight Moore, secretary; L. V. Hite, treasurer. Amos Hite was elected trustee for three years.

It was decided to add five acres to the north of the cemetery and have it surveyed, layed off into two sections and plotted.
